Paint Union Stresses 53 Good Years

On the occasion of the annual meeting and election of officers, Joseph Netherwood Sr., who was elected president of the Painters Local Union No. 255 of the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America, AFL, reviewed the accomplishments of organization.

President Netherwood said that the local union is 53 years old and that one of its first members, Myron Short is still active. Many of the members are 25-year men in the union and he said that the membership now totals over 100 first class painters.

Netherwood also said that due to the union's fair dealings with local contractors, they have not had a strike since 1929 and he is of the opinion that this is a record.

HE SAID that the union has never barred any one from membership because of his race color or creed, however, the union has gone on record as barring membership to Communists.

He also commended the younger members of the union who have swelled the ranks of the growing organization.

The families of the union enjoyed many social events and in time of trouble gave financial support and comfort to those in unfortunate circumstances, he said.

President Netherwood made known that at the last meeting of the union a hospitalization insurance plan was instituted for the protection of the members and their families.

IN ADDITION to Netherwood, who was elected president, others designated were Francis Boss, vice president; Stephen Gill, business agent and recording secretary; Harold Otis, financial secretary and treasurer; Jessie Sickler, conductor and trustee; Peter Johanson, warden; Joseph Netherwood Jr., and Roscoe Bishop, trustees.

Delegates to the Metal Trades Council are Mr. Boss, J. Hesselbach, Mr. Johanson, Mr. Gill, Mr. Netherwood Sr., and F. Warner.

Institute Starts On Delinquency

Syracuse, N. Y., July 5 (AP)—The first of a series of three institutes on juvenile delinquency and youth crime began here today as law enforcement leaders from upstate New York registered for the four-day session.

John R. Hartnett, professor of social work at Syracuse University and chairman of the institute, said it was aimed at establishing a permanent program for reduction and prevention of juvenile delinquency.

A THREE-WEEK workshop for uniformed policemen was kicked off simultaneously with the institute serving as the first week of the program. The workshop's aim is to acquaint police officers with social and psychological processes which affect the development of delinquent conduct in children.

Besides the uniformed policemen, judges, district attorneys, sheriffs and probation officers were attending the institute.

James O. Moore Jr., Buffalo, state solicitor general, is the principal speaker on the institute program.

HE WILL describe the youth courts proposal of the temporary commission on the courts at a banquet Thursday night.

Mark A. McCloskey, chairman of the State Youth Commission, invited 800 persons to the institute. He will discuss things a community can do to prevent juvenile delinquency at Thursday's opening business session.

Similar institutes, sponsored by community industries and individuals with the backing of the State Attorney General's office, will be in Buffalo July 11-15 and New York city July 18-22.

The institute here is at University College, adult education branch of Syracuse University.

Capital Faces Big Traffic Snarl

Federal Workers Still Minus Streetcar Rides

Washington, July 5 (AP)—A potentially super-duper traffic snarl confronted the capital today with the end of a long holiday weekend coinciding with the fifth day of a streetcar and bus strike.

Friday, when the strike started, was bad enough. But many government workers among the some 400,000 persons who normally use public transit daily took off to begin their July 4th holiday early—many of them to bypass the transportation problem.

A FULL FORCE of 200 park police and 2,200 metropolitan officers was ordered out to help keep traffic moving today in the face of the added influx of private autos, some of them bringing residents belatedly back from the weekend.

A police plane was assigned to patrol the city and spot traffic trouble spots.

The strike has brought a relaxation of rules to permit drivers to park their autos on streetcar tracks in the middle of Pennsylvania avenue and on other streets. There is no time limit on parking meters.

SOME 2,400 AFL streetcar and bus operators and mechanics are seeking a pay increase of 25 cents an hour for operators, who got $1.90 an hour under the old contract, and 31 cents for mechanics, who got $2.09. The union has proposed arbitration.

Federal mediators met separately with representatives of the union and the Capital Transit Co. yesterday but said they could find no area of agreement.

The company was understood to have made through the federal officials it first counter-offer. No details were given out, but it was learned the offer was conditional on some financial relief from the federal and District of Columbia government.

THE COMPANY, which earlier insisted it could not afford to pay any more, has been seeking a fare increase and elimination of a city gross receipts tax of some half a million dollars yearly.

Mediation sessions were suspended last night to await the results of a session today between the firm's board of directors and the District of Columbia commissioners, the three-man board which governs the city under supervision of the federal government.

Two California Women Are First Finishers in Derby

Springfield, Mass., July 5 (AP)—Two California women—one a youthful grandmother — were hailed today as the first finishers in the ninth cross-country Powder Puff Derby.

Mrs. Isabelle McCrae of Lemon Grove, Calif., a former air force flight nurse, and her co-pilot, Mrs. Betty McNeil of La Mesa, Calif., grandmother of six, were first to complete the 2,800 mile airplane race yesterday.

HOWEVER, the first plane in is not necessarily the winner of the derby because of the handicap system that equalizes speeds between single and multi-engined planes of varying horsepower. Winner of the $800 first prize will be announced at a banquet Thursday.

A crowd of 2,000 persons was on hand to see the first arrivals in the race from Long Beach, Calif., to Barnes-Westfield Airport here.

Mrs. McCrae and Mrs. McNeil brought their plane down at 4:09 p. m. (EDT). This is the former's sixth trans-continental air race and the latter's fourth. Both listed their age as 39.

SECOND to finish were Gladys Muter and Doris Langher, both of Chicago. Their plane touched ground at 4:49 p. m. Mrs. Muter, pilot of her own plane, also is a grandmother.

The flight across the country was by daylight only. All planes were required to land by nightfall and take off only after daylight broke.

By nightfall last night, 12 planes had landed at Springfield, Mass. The others were scattered out as follows: Four at Reading, Pa.; three at Wheeling, W. Va.; four at Dayton, Ohio; four at Terre Haute, Ind.; nine at St. Louis; eight at Springfield, Mo.; and one each at Tulsa, Okla., and Wichita Falls, Tex.

EARLIER yesterday, Ruth Nitzen of Inglewood, Calif., crashed near Spur, Tex., after engine trouble, but she was not injured.

Mrs. McCrae and Mrs. McNeil proudly accepted a gift for being the first arrivals—a basket

Boy Found in Woods

Kent, Conn., July 5 (AP)—An 8-year-old boy, missing all night in rattlesnake-infested woods, was found alive and well today. Officer Cleveland Fuessenich, member of a state police searching party, found Richard Obar, clad only in the bathing trunks he wore when he wandered into the woods after he tired of fishing in a brook. Details of how the boy was found were lacking.

Holiday Traffic Deaths 393

Total Is New High For July 4 Period

(By The Associated Press)

Traffic deaths in the United States over the Fourth of July weekend soared to a record high for the holiday.

The over-all accidental death toll also was the heaviest in years for the Independence Day period.

Traffic accidents from 6 p. m. Friday to midnight Monday killed at least 393 persons. That was more than the number estimated by the National Safety Council, and compared to the previous record of 366 in a three-day Fourth of July period in 1952.

IN THE 78-HOUR period, 239 persons drowned and 141 others lost their lives in miscellaneous accidents. The over-all total of 772 was a record for a three-day Fourth of July holiday and compared to the record of 793 for a four-day Fourth of July period in 1950. The traffic toll in 1950 was an all-time high of 491.

Every state and the District of Columbia reported at least one accidental death. This year's toll in all types of accidents was far ahead of last year's three day holiday period when there were 348 traffic deaths, 192 drownings, 79 deaths in miscellaneous mishaps and 4 deaths by fireworks. One person was killed by fireworks this year.

The safety council's pre-holiday estimate of traffic deaths was 380 and commenting on the record high toll, President Ned H. Dearborn said:

"THIS NEEDLESS traffic toll is a tragic price tag on holiday fun."

An Associated Press survey of a non-holiday weekend showed 342 persons died in traffic mishaps from 6 p. m. Friday June 17 to midnight June 20. Council figures show that in the first five months this year traffic deaths averaged about 90 a day.

One of the most spectacular accidental deaths occurred last night at Hillsboro, Ore., where Mike Kelly, a daredevil bicycle rider, plunged to his death before 1,000 spectators at a Fourth of July community celebration. Kelly rode his bicycle down a ramp and leaped, on the machine, through a wall of fire and a sheet of plate glass and over two parked automobiles. He missed landing on another ramp and fell to the ground on his head.

UN Holds Reds Were Violators

Strict Accounting In Korea Asked

Panmunjom, July 5 (AP)—The UN command today accused the Communists of repeated and flagrant violations of the Korean truce agreement, and demanded a strict accounting of combat material brought into Korea by the Reds.

Maj. Gen. Harlan C. Parks, senior UN member on the Military Armistice Commission said the Reds were guilty of "complete insincerity, dishonesty and utter lack of integrity" in maintaining the armistice agreement.

A FEW HOURS later, Parks barred Allied newsmen from a press conference called by the Communist Delegate, North Korean Gen. Lee Sang Cho. Parks told the newsmen:

"I do not consider it appropriate that representatives of the enemy side enter my camp to attend my press conference. Conversely, I do not think accredited correspondents of the UNC should enter their camp for similar conferences."

It was the first such prohibition in the four-year history of the Panmunjom negotiations and conferences.

In a full dress meeting of the Armistice Commission, Parks read into the record a 17½-page list of alleged Red violations of the truce.

He charged collusion by Communist Czech and Polish truce inspectors in making the Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission ineffective.

PARKS THEN laid down a series of demands against the Reds, including:

"1. You provide the UN command, without delay, an accurate accounting of all combat material and combat aircraft introduced into the territory of your side since the signing of the armistice.

"2. You immediately provide the NNSC (Neutral Nation Supervisory Commission) with a corrected combat material report which reflects the mass of combat material and hundreds of aircraft you have illegally introduced into Korea.

"3. You cease immediately the illegal introduction of additional combat material and combat aircraft into the territory of your side."

Parks bluntly told the Reds their "soothing music" and "peaceful propaganda" was in stark contract with "your con-

Prayer Is Offered In Senate Today For L. B. Johnson

Washington, July 5 (AP)—Senators stood for a minute in silent prayer today for the recovery of their stricken majority leader, Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas.

And President Eisenhower, before beginning his business day, sent personal wishes to Johnson for a speedy recovery.

A hush settled over the Senate chamber as all of the guests in the galleries and Senate attaches joined the members in the prayer for the Democratic leader.

VETERAN Senate aides said they could not recall that any similar mass prayer ever had been offered for a senator.

Sen. Lehman (D-NY) proposed the prayer after Sen. Clements (Ky), the acting Democratic leader, and Sen. Knowland (R-Calif), had paid tribute to Johnson.

Clements told his colleagues that medical authorities had advised him Johnson "should be able to return to the Senate in January" if he continues to improve satisfactorily from the heart attack he suffered Saturday.

"UNDER NO circumstances," Clements said, can Johnson return to his duties as Senate Democratic leader this session.

Further, Clements said, Johnson may perform no duties of any kind for a "period of months" following satisfactory progress.

Some Ike Remarks Checked

President Is More Optimistic

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

Moscow, July 5 (AP)—Communist Party Secretary Nikita Khruschev said yesterday that Russia wants an agreement "on an honest basis" at the Geneva summit talks but is strong enough to wait if the west is not prepared to negotiate seriously.

Khruschev's host at the U. S. Embassy's Fourth of July party, Charge d'Affaires Walter N. Walmsley, replied: "I do not think the President of the United States would go to Geneva without serious reasons."

The Communist party chief and other top Russian officials, including Premier Nikolai Bulganin, put in a surprise appearance at the party. No such high-ranking group of Soviet leaders have ever before attended an embassy function.

IN A SPEECH to the guests, Khruschev said the Russians are not going to the July 18 conference "with broken legs" — crippled by harvest failures or other breakdowns in the Soviet economy.

"We are going upright like soldiers to meet with worthy partners, and that is the only right way," he declared. "If we talk on an equal basis, all parties, and if the talks are honest and sincere, equal to equal, something will come of it."

The party was held in the elm-shaded garden of Spasso House, Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen's residence. In addition to Khruschev and Bulganin, former premier Georgi Melenkov, first deputy premiers, A. I. Mikoyan and Lazar Kaganovich and Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov were among the Soviet bigwigs on hand.

WITH BOHLEN in the United States helping Eisenhower prepare for the Geneva talks, Walmsley and Mrs. Bohlen did the honors.

County Escapes Serious Accidents

Mishaps Are Reported In Surrounding Areas

Despite heavy weekend traffic through Ulster county only two minor accidents were reported—one of these involving minor injuries to a child struck by a car while fishing off a bridge near Bearsville.

It was reported that approximately 4,000 cars an hour were leaving the Thruway at Suffern yesterday afternoon and evening as metropolitan traffic returned to the city. An estimated 1,800 cars an hour passed Kingston southbound on the Thruway.

ALTHOUGH Kingston and Ulster county escaped serious accidents, surrounding areas were not so fortunate.

Four deaths were reported in Orange county—two drowning, a death resulting from a two-car collision near Walden and a homicide. A drowning and a traffic death were reported in Dutchess county.

TWO ARRESTS followed a one-car accident at 2:30 a. m., Monday on the Blue Mountain road about five miles west of Saugerties, according to state police of the Kingston station.

A 1953 sedan, operated by George D. Elsis, 40, of Brooklyn, traveling north around a curve, turned over twice, landed upright and, according to reports, proceeded on its way although the car was a "total wreck." Elsis suffered lacerations of the left hand and a passenger, Edward J. Smith, 31, of Brooklyn, lacerations of the left ear and left eye.

Elsis was arrested by troopers on a charge of driving at an excessive rate of speed, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Glenford Myers of Saugrtis, pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $25. His companion, Smith, who was arrested on a charge of intoxication, paid a fine of $10.

Kenith Bee, 5½, of Poughkeepsie, suffered abrasions of the back and leg when he was

More Federal Aid Seen for State Under GOP Plan

New York, July 5 (AP)—Republican State Chairman L. Judson Morhouse says President Eisenhower's highway program would give New York state one billion dollars more in federal aid than the Democratic road bill sponsored by Sen. Albert Gore (D.-Tenn.).

Morhouse said in a statement yesterday that he was urging New York state's 26 GOP House members to fight for Eisenhower's highway construction program, known as the Martin-Clay Plan.

HE ADDED that he hopes Gov. Averell Harriman—"in the obvious best interests of our state"—will urge the state's 17 Democratic House members to back the Eisenhower program. This multi-billion-dollar program would extend over 10 years.

Morhouse said the Eisenhower program, unlike the Gore plan, also would allow New York state reimbursement of at least 500 million dollars for the Thruway; would cost 28 million dollars, or 42 per cent, less each year in matching state funds than would be required under the Gore plan; and would re-

7, Mostly Children, Die As Train Crashes Into Car

Allen's Grove, Wis., July 5 (AP)—At least seven persons, most of them children, were reported killed this morning when a speeding North Western road passenger train crashed into a car near here.

There were 11 passengers in the automobile, all believed to be in the same family or closely related. Two were women and the others children.

Walworth county authorities said the car apparently was driven by Beatrice Smith of Route 1, Darien, accompanied by Mrs. Harriet Smith, 38, of Beloit. All the children were believed to be Mrs. Smith's.

The Chicago-bound 12-car passenger train hit the auto at a grade crossing within 500 feet of Beatrice Smith's home. Bodies were strewn over a wide area and the car demolished. Officers said the train was traveling about 60 miles an hour.

In addition to the women, these Smith children were said to be in the car: Larry, 13; Betty Lou, 12; Elise, 7; Keith, 6; Jackie, 4; Cheryl, 2; Debbie, 1; "Skippy," 3 months, and another whose name was not immediately available.

The group had just left the home of the Smith children's grandparents to travel to a grocery store at Allens Grove. The town is located in Walworth county in southern Wisconsin.

The injured, all described as in critical condition, were taken to Lakeland Hospital at Elkhorn. The dead were removed to a funeral home at Delavan.

Copper Strike Is 5 Days Old; 22,000 Picketing Plants

Denver, July 5 (AP)—The nationwide copper strike moved into its fifth day today as an estimated 22,000 members of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers continued picketing at plants and mines operated by three of the four biggest producers.

All negotiations concerning the independent union's demand for a 20-cent hourly wage hike, guaranteed annual wage and fringe benefits were suspended over the Independence Day weekend.

HOWEVER, a union spokesman at Denver said he expected the talks would resume on several fronts today.

The walkout began early Friday at facilities of the Phelps-Dodge Corp., Kennecott Copper Corp. and American Smelting & Refining Co. after Mine-Mill contracts with the firms expired at midnight Thursday.

Operations in 12 states were affected.

Anaconda Copper Co., the other member of the Big Four, so far has not been struck. Meetings between union and company representatives at Butte, Mont., were termed in a state of "suspended animation" by a federal conciliator.

ALL TOGETHER, the four big producers employ an estimated 50,000 mine-mill members.

First violence in the strike was reported at a Phelps-Dodge smelter in Morenci, Ariz., yesterday.

David Velasquez, president of Union Local 616, said two pickets suffered minor injuries when three automobiles, lined up bumper-to-bumper, tried to break through the line.

Two care were turned back, but the third got through and

UN Holds Reds Were Violators

Strict Accounting In Korea Asked

Panmunjom, July 5 (AP)—The UN command today accused the Communists of repeated and flagrant violations of the Korean truce agreement, and demanded a strict accounting of combat material brought into Korea by the Reds.

Maj. Gen. Harlan C. Parks, senior UN member on the Military Armistice Commission said the Reds were guilty of "complete insincerity, dishonesty and utter lack of integrity" in maintaining the armistice agreement.

A FEW HOURS later, Parks barred Allied newsmen from a press conference called by the Communist Delegate, North Korean Gen. Lee Sang Cho. Parks told the newsmen:

"I do not consider it appropriate that representatives of the enemy side enter my camp to attend my press conference. Conversely, I do not think accredited correspondents of the UNC should enter their camp for similar conferences."

It was the first such prohibition in the four-year history of the Panmunjom negotiations and conferences.

In a full dress meeting of the Armistice Commission, Parks read into the record a 17½-page list of alleged Red violations of the truce.

He charged collusion by Communist Czech and Polish truce inspectors in making the Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission ineffective.

PARKS THEN laid down a series of demands against the Reds, including:

"1. You provide the UN command, without delay, an accurate accounting of all combat material and combat aircraft introduced into the territory of your side since the signing of the armistice.

"2. You immediately provide the NNSC (Neutral Nation Supervisory Commission) with a corrected combat material report which reflects the mass of combat material and hundreds of aircraft you have illegally introduced into Korea.

"3. You cease immediately the illegal introduction of additional combat material and combat aircraft into the territory of your side."

Parks bluntly told the Reds their "soothing music" and "peaceful propaganda" was in stark contract with "your con-

Prayer Is Offered In Senate Today For L. B. Johnson

Washington, July 5 (AP)—Senators stood for a minute in silent prayer today for the recovery of their stricken majority leader, Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas.

And President Eisenhower, before beginning his business day, sent personal wishes to Johnson for a speedy recovery.

A hush settled over the Senate chamber as all of the guests in the galleries and Senate attaches joined the members in the prayer for the Democratic leader.

VETERAN Senate aides said they could not recall that any similar mass prayer ever had been offered for a senator.

Sen. Lehman (D-NY) proposed the prayer after Sen. Clements (Ky), the acting Democratic leader, and Sen. Knowland (R-Calif), had paid tribute to Johnson.

Clements told his colleagues that medical authorities had advised him Johnson "should be able to return to the Senate in January" if he continues to improve satisfactorily from the heart attack he suffered Saturday.

"UNDER NO circumstances," Clements said, can Johnson return to his duties as Senate Democratic leader this session.

Further, Clements said, Johnson may perform no duties of any kind for a "period of months" following satisfactory progress.

Reds Stress They Will Wait at Talks For 'Honest Basis'

Some Ike Remarks Checked

President Is More Optimistic

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

Moscow, July 5 (AP)—Communist Party Secretary Nikita Khruschev said yesterday that Russia wants an agreement "on an honest basis" at the Geneva summit talks but is strong enough to wait if the west is not prepared to negotiate seriously.

Khruschev's host at the U. S. Embassy's Fourth of July party, Charge d'Affaires Walter N. Walmsley, replied: "I do not think the President of the United States would go to Geneva without serious reasons."

The Communist party chief and other top Russian officials, including Premier Nikolai Bulganin, put in a surprise appearance at the party. No such high-ranking group of Soviet leaders have ever before attended an embassy function.

IN A SPEECH to the guests, Khruschev said the Russians are not going to the July 18 conference "with broken legs" — crippled by harvest failures or other breakdowns in the Soviet economy.

"We are going upright like soldiers to meet with worthy partners, and that is the only right way," he declared. "If we talk on an equal basis, all parties, and if the talks are honest and sincere, equal to equal, something will come of it."

The party was held in the elm-shaded garden of Spasso House, Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen's residence. In addition to Khruschev and Bulganin, former premier Georgi Melenkov, first deputy premiers, A. I. Mikoyan and Lazar Kaganovich and Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov were among the Soviet bigwigs on hand.

WITH BOHLEN in the United States helping Eisenhower prepare for the Geneva talks, Walmsley and Mrs. Bohlen did the honors.

Asserting that people in the west "pay little attention to what we say and prefer to read

County Escapes Serious Accidents

Mishaps Are Reported In Surrounding Areas

Despite heavy weekend traffic through Ulster county only two minor accidents were reported—one of these involving minor injuries to a child struck by a car while fishing off a bridge near Bearsville.

It was reported that approximately 4,000 cars an hour were leaving the Thruway at Suffern yesterday afternoon and evening as metropolitan traffic returned to the city. An estimated 1,800 cars an hour passed Kingston southbound on the Thruway.

ALTHOUGH Kingston and Ulster county escaped serious accidents, surrounding areas were not so fortunate.

Four deaths were reported in Orange county—two drowning, a death resulting from a two-car collision near Walden and a homicide. A drowning and a traffic death were reported in Dutchess county.

TWO ARRESTS followed a one-car accident at 2:30 a. m., Monday on the Blue Mountain road about five miles west of Saugerties, according to state police of the Kingston station.

A 1953 sedan, operated by George D. Elsis, 40, of Brooklyn, traveling north around a curve, turned over twice, landed upright and, according to reports, proceeded on its way although the car was a "total wreck." Elsis suffered lacerations of the left hand and a passenger, Edward J. Smith, 31, of Brooklyn, lacerations of the left ear and left eye.

Elsis was arrested by troopers on a charge of driving at an excessive rate of speed, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Glenford Myers of Saugrtis, pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $25. His companion, Smith, who was arrested on a charge of intoxication, paid a fine of $10.

Kenith Bee, 5½, of Poughkeepsie, suffered abrasions of the back and leg when he was

More Federal Aid Seen for State Under GOP Plan

New York, July 5 (AP)—Republican State Chairman L. Judson Morhouse says President Eisenhower's highway program would give New York state one billion dollars more in federal aid than the Democratic road bill sponsored by Sen. Albert Gore (D.-Tenn.).

Morhouse said in a statement yesterday that he was urging New York state's 26 GOP House members to fight for Eisenhower's highway construction program, known as the Martin-Clay Plan.

HE ADDED that he hopes Gov. Averell Harriman—"in the obvious best interests of our state"—will urge the state's 17 Democratic House members to back the Eisenhower program. This multi-billion-dollar program would extend over 10 years.

Morhouse said the Eisenhower program, unlike the Gore plan, also would allow New York state reimbursement of at least 500 million dollars for the Thruway; would cost 28 million dollars, or 42 per cent, less each year in matching state funds than would be required under the Gore plan; and would re-

SUCCESSFUL SWIM—Beautiful Greta Patterson enjoyed a swimming triumph today that was as brilliant as her smile and as shining as her golden hair. The 18-year-old Batavia, N. Y., girl yesterday became the first person to swim the 15-mile stretch of Lake Erie between Crystal Beach, Ont., and Angola, N. Y. Greta tapped a pier and ended her long swim just 13 hours and three minutes after she strode into the surf on the American shore at 6:35 a. m. (AP Wirephoto).

7, Mostly Children, Die As Train Crashes Into Car

Allen's Grove, Wis., July 5 (AP)—At least seven persons, most of them children, were reported killed this morning when a speeding North Western road passenger train crashed into a car near here.

There were 11 passengers in the automobile, all believed to be in the same family or closely related. Two were women and the others children.

Walworth county authorities said the car apparently was driven by Beatrice Smith of Route 1, Darien, accompanied by Mrs. Harriet Smith, 38, of Beloit. All the children were believed to be Mrs. Smith's.

The Chicago-bound 12-car passenger train hit the auto at a grade crossing within 500 feet of Beatrice Smith's home. Bodies were strewn over a wide area and the car demolished. Officers said the train was traveling about 60 miles an hour.

In addition to the women, these Smith children were said to be in the car: Larry, 13; Betty Lou, 12; Elise, 7; Keith, 6; Jackie, 4; Cheryl, 2; Debbie, 1; "Skippy," 3 months, and another whose name was not immediately available.

The group had just left the home of the Smith children's grandparents to travel to a grocery store at Allens Grove. The town is located in Walworth county in southern Wisconsin.

The injured, all described as in critical condition, were taken to Lakeland Hospital at Elkhorn. The dead were removed to a funeral home at Delavan.

Copper Strike Is 5 Days Old; 22,000 Picketing Plants

Denver, July 5 (AP)—The nationwide copper strike moved into its fifth day today as an estimated 22,000 members of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers continued picketing at plants and mines operated by three of the four biggest producers.

All negotiations concerning the independent union's demand for a 20-cent hourly wage hike, guaranteed annual wage and fringe benefits were suspended over the Independence Day weekend.

HOWEVER, a union spokesman at Denver said he expected the talks would resume on several fronts today.

The walkout began early Friday at facilities of the Phelps-Dodge Corp., Kennecott Copper Corp. and American Smelting & Refining Co. after Mine-Mill contracts with the firms expired at midnight Thursday.

Operations in 12 states were affected.

Anaconda Copper Co., the other member of the Big Four, so far has not been struck. Meetings between union and company representatives at Butte, Mont., were termed in a state of "suspended animation" by a federal conciliator.

ALL TOGETHER, the four big producers employ an estimated 50,000 mine-mill members.

First violence in the strike was reported at a Phelps-Dodge smelter in Morenci, Ariz., yesterday.

David Velasquez, president of Union Local 616, said two pickets suffered minor injuries when three automobiles, lined up bumper-to-bumper, tried to break through the line.

Two care were turned back, but the third got through and

Washington, July 5 (AP)—House Speaker Rayburn (D.-Tex.) said today it's up to the Republicans whether Congress will pass a housing bill this year. Rep. The omnibus housing bill was stalled in the House Rules Committee last week when public housing foes—reportedly all four committee Republicans plus two Democrats—voted 6-6 against sending the measure to the House for a vote.

CLEMENTS said he would seek to "carry on in the same spirit" that Johnson exemplified.

The Kentuckian said he hoped the Senate "can make Lyndon Johnson proud of this session that in such large part bears the mark of his leadership."

"Fortunately we are over the hump of our legislative work this year," Clements said. "This can be attributed largely to the work of the majority leader."

Sen. Hill (D.-Ala.) said "we all recognized that Lyndon Johnson has done a magnificent job as majority leader."

Says Housing Up to GOP

Washington, July 5 (AP)—House Speaker Rayburn (D.-Tex.) said today it's up to the Republicans whether Congress will pass a housing bill this year. Rep. Martin (Mass.), the House Republican leader, countered that "We'll get a housing bill before we're through." The omnibus housing bill was stalled in the House Rules Committee last week when public housing foes—reportedly all four committee Republicans plus two Democrats—voted 6-6 against sending the measure to the House for a vote.

talked with Johnson's doctors told a reporter that the Texan almost died when the attack came Saturday.

"The first few hours were extremely serious," this senator said.

HE SAID that if Johnson continues to improve, he may be able to leave the hospital in three weeks but will have to take it easy for a long while.

Knowland told the Senate that Johnson "has the prayers of all of us here." The minority leader pledged Clements, acting Democratic leader, the full cooperation of Republicans in winding up legislative business of the 1955 session.

CLEMENTS said he would seek to "carry on in the same spirit" that Johnson exemplified.

The Kentuckian said he hoped the Senate "can make Lyndon Johnson proud of this session that in such large part bears the mark of his leadership."

"Fortunately we are over the hump of our legislative work this year," Clements said. "This can be attributed largely to the work of the majority leader."

Sen. Hill (D.-Ala.) said "we all recognized that Lyndon Johnson has done a magnificent job as majority leader."

Two Navy Fliers Are Winners of Harmon Trophies

New York, July 5 (AP)—The 1955 Harmon aviation trophies have been won by a navy blimp commander and the test pilot for the navy's vertical takeoff plane.

Named yesterday for "outstanding international achievements in aeronautics" were test pilot J. F. (Skeets) Coleman and navy Capt. Marion H. Eppes.

The awards are traditionally announced on July 4 and presented at a later date by the President of the White House.

COLEMAN, a marine reserve lieutenant colonel, was cited for making more than 60 straight-up takeoffs in the navy's XFY-1 "Pogo" turbo-prop fighter built by Convair. He was also cited for ultimately making "history's first transitional flight from vertical takeoff to level flight and back down to a vertical tail-sitting landing."

When ready for a takeoff the XFY-1 plane stands on small wheels attached to its tail with its propeller pointed skyward. Coleman made the backing down landing at Brown Field Naval Auxiliary Air Station near San Diego, Calif., last Nov. 2.

THE CITATION said his flights "enabled the United States to forge ahead in the design of high speed fighter aircraft able to take off from the land on small platform areas of ships at sea and also to be effective tactically during operations such as marine amphibious or assault landings."

In his prize-winning blimp flight, Eppes kept a Goodyear navy airship ZPG-2 aloft for more than eight days and cruised more than 3,000 miles in a simulated anti-submarine patrol.

THIS FLIGHT on May 17-25, 1954, set a new world record for self-sustained, non-refueling flight by any type of aircraft.

The citation said "his achievement demonstrated the inherent endurance of modern lighter-than-air craft and their potential value as a protection against enemy long-range submarines."

Usually a third trophy is awarded to an outstanding aviatrix, but the Harmon Committee said no such award would be made this year.

The awards were established in 1926 in honor of the late Clifford B. Harmon, a pioneer flier for whom Harmon, N. Y., is named. The winners are chosen by a committee of pilots, scientists and engineers.

Paraders Fill Hospitals

Pittsfield, Mass., July 5 (AP)—The facilities of two hospitals were taxed yesterday when 37 paraders of the 9th annual firemen's muster were felled by the heat. Officials of St. Luke's and Pittsfield General Hospitals asked the firefighters to postpone the remaining events of the day because both hospitals were overcrowded. Even though the temperature was in the 90s, the festivities continued.

You Can Lose With Any Hand

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

It should be almost impossible to lose the game contract in today's hand. South can make 12 tricks if he decides to set up dummy's spades, and he can surely make 10 tricks if he embarks on a really thorough cross-ruff. When the hand was actually played, however, one of the best players of the country found a way to go down at four hearts.

West opened the king of clubs and continued with another club, South ruffing. Declarer cashed the ace of diamonds, ruffed a diamond in dummy, ruffed another diamond in dummy, and then made the mistake of cashing the ace of trumps. He should have tackled the spades in order to ruff still another diamond with dummy's ace of trumps.

Returning to the actual play, West dropped the queen of hearts on dummy's ace. This false card cost nothing, of course, but it had the effect of throwing South off the track.

Now declarer took the ace of spades and ruffed a spade, after which he led a fourth diamond to East's king. West discarded the jack of spades, on this trick, and East promptly returned the king of spades.

There was still a way for South to recover. He should have discarded his last diamond, allowing East to hold the king of spades. If East then led the ace of clubs, South would ruff low; and if East instead, led his trump, South would put up the king. Either way, South would have won the last two tricks to make the contract.

As it happened, South was intent on rushing to his doom. When East led the king of spades, South ruffed with the nine. West overruffed with the ten of hearts and returned a club to force out declarer's last trump. East, much to his astonishment, took the last trick with the six of hearts, thus setting the contract.

Britain Turning Over Navy Base In South Africa

London, July 5 (AP)—Britain is turning over control of the big Royal Navy base at Simonstown, South Africa to the Johannesburg government. But she retains the right to use it for herself and her allies in wartime, even if south Africa remains neutral.

Prime Minister Eden announced the agreement on the transfer to the House of Commons yesterday.

SOUTH AFRICAN nationalists insisted on the move, which must be completed in 21 months. Negotiations on the question have continued for several years.

Simonstown, 21 miles south of Capetown, was set up as a naval base when Lord Nelson was assembling the ships with which he won the battle of Trafalgar in 1805. It serves as a halfway house for warships and troop carriers sailing between Europe and Asia or the Middle East via the Cape of Good Hope and is of prime importance if the Mediterranean is closed.

EDEN SAID Britain also would be permitted to share the base's facilities in peacetime. He said the move was made to give more room for South Africa's own expanding navy.

The prime minister also said South Africa has decided to place orders in Britain for 50 million dollars worth of naval craft and the two countries have agreed on a new naval command structure to strengthen defense of sea routes around the Cape of Good Hope.

Writer Out of Jail

Parma, Italy, July 5 (AP)—The creator of Don Camillo, writer Giovanni Guareschi, is out of jail after serving 13 months and 10 days for things he wrote about the late Premier Alcide De Gasperi and former President Luigi Einaudi. The author, whose stories of the Catholic priest and Communist mayor have become best sellers in Europe and America, was given conditional freedom yesterday. Almost seven months of his 20-month sentence were remitted for good behavior, but he must report daily to the police until the full term is up. Guareschi is expected to publish a diary of his experiences in jail.

TV Blamed for Deficit

Monte Carlo, Monaco, July 5 (AP)—Monte Carlo's biggest bank—the financial institution, not the one they break at the gambling casino—says it has a deficit of 700 million francs (two million dollars). Falling values of television stocks in which the Monaco Banking and Precious Metals Co., had invested were blamed. Rumors that the bank was in trouble touched off a run on it last week. The Monaco government, which had an estimated 900 million francs on deposit in the institution, threw in another 250 million to meet the withdrawals.

Trieste Red Leader Admits Grave Mistake

Trieste, Italy, July 5 (AP)—Trieste Communist leader Vittorio Vidali announced last night he had been "gravely mistaken" in attacking Soviet Party Chief Nikita Khrushchev for apologizing to Yugoslav President Tito.

Vidali's weekly newspaper "The Worker" said in a long editorial in its May 30 edition berating Khrushchev was based on a "hasty and erroneous interpretation" of the Russian Communist leader's words.

The May 30 editorial commented on a speech Khrshchev made during his recent visit to Yugoslavia with Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin. In his remarks, the Russian party boss blamed the Cominform's 1948 expulsion of Tito on "enemies of the people."

Asserting the expulsion was caused by Tito's "exaggerated nationalism disguised as socialism, and by his political and physical terrorism," the newspaper said it had been in full agreement with his ouster and "that is why we cannot be if solidarity with the statement of comrade Khrushchev."

Vidali has long been a bitter foe of Tito and also has been reported at odds with Italy's Communist party chief, Palmiro Togliatti.

The prime minister also said South Africa has decided to place orders in Britain for 50 million dollars worth of naval craft and the two countries have agreed on a new naval command structure to strengthen defense of sea routes around the Cape of Good Hope.

Writer Out of Jail

Parma, Italy, July 5 (AP)—The creator of Don Camillo, writer Giovanni Guareschi, is out of jail after serving 13 months and 10 days for things he wrote about the late Premier Alcide De Gasperi and former President Luigi Einaudi. The author, whose stories of the Catholic priest and Communist mayor have become best sellers in Europe and America, was given conditional freedom yesterday. Almost seven months of his 20-month sentence were remitted for good behavior, but he must report daily to the police until the full term is up. Guareschi is expected to publish a diary of his experiences in jail.

TV Blamed for Deficit

Monte Carlo, Monaco, July 5 (AP)—Monte Carlo's biggest bank—the financial institution, not the one they break at the gambling casino—says it has a deficit of 700 million francs (two million dollars). Falling values of television stocks in which the Monaco Banking and Precious Metals Co., had invested were blamed. Rumors that the bank was in trouble touched off a run on it last week. The Monaco government, which had an estimated 900 million francs on deposit in the institution, threw in another 250 million to meet the withdrawals.

Trieste Red Leader Admits Grave Mistake

Trieste, Italy, July 5 (AP)—Trieste Communist leader Vittorio Vidali announced last night he had been "gravely mistaken" in attacking Soviet Party Chief Nikita Khrushchev for apologizing to Yugoslav President Tito.

Vidali's weekly newspaper "The Worker" said in a long editorial in its May 30 edition berating Khrushchev was based on a "hasty and erroneous interpretation" of the Russian Communist leader's words.

The May 30 editorial commented on a speech Khrshchev made during his recent visit to Yugoslavia with Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin. In his remarks, the Russian party boss blamed the Cominform's 1948 expulsion of Tito on "enemies of the people."

Asserting the expulsion was caused by Tito's "exaggerated nationalism disguised as socialism, and by his political and physical terrorism," the newspaper said it had been in full agreement with his ouster and "that is why we cannot be in solidarity with the statement of comrade Khrushchev."

Vidali has long been a bitter foe of Tito and also has been reported at odds with Italy's Communist party chief, Palmiro Togliatti.

AUTOMOTIVE AVALANCHE

In the world of the highway, when you start by-passing the by-passes you're in trouble. And that, apparently, is about to happen.

The Wall Street Journal, in a roundup look at the nation's traffic tangles, found that situation just one of many oddities as cities across the land strive desperately to cope with their problems.

The avalanche of vehicles is snowing them under. In half a year there will be 60 million cars and trucks on the road, virtually double the number a decade ago.

By 1965, say the experts, the total will pass 80 million vehicles. Beyond that, we'll begin to talk in terms of 100 million.

The highways we have, even most of the ones we're planning, won't be able to take the load. They're already saturated with traffic in many, many instances.

Two-lane roads have a safe, comfortable load limit of around 5000 cars a day. But many bear far greater burdens, sometimes six times that many.

Even fabulous new expressways are smothered in traffic. The Hollywood freeway in Los Angeles was built to accommodate 100,000, but already it is handling 168,000 daily. New Jersey Turnpike authorities will tell you that super-highway carries traffic now that the engineers thought it wouldn't see for three decades.

At rush hours or on crowded weekends, the slightest mishap sometimes can tie up traffic for miles. Los Angeles is seriously searching for helicopters big enough to hoist wrecked cars off its freeways to uncork accident bottlenecks.

It would be foolish to say that the country is not at last awake to the magnitude of the traffic problem. President Eisenhower's proposal for a 101 billion dollar highway program, by far the costliest yet suggested, shows recognition of the difficulties ahead.

But all the evidence at hand indicates that neither the federal government nor the states and cities are planning with sufficient vision and scope to surmount the problem in the foreseeable future.

The truth is painful: We are swamped by the swelling flood of traffic. And the tide of cars is rising so swiftly and so high that we are likely to stay swamped unless we get some plans that fit the size of the problem.

The answer clearly belongs in the realm of staggering billions. Anything less won't buy us much space on the highways. And space means lives.

SPIRITUAL DETERRENTS

Many people believe that war is inevitable, that at best hostilities can be deferred, but that eventually international differences must be settled with armed conflict.

This feeling is defeatist. A nation expecting war is certain to find it, especially in a democracy where public opinion is so powerful and inflammable. But this feeling is unnecessary, for the world today stands on the brink of an era of lasting peace, partly because no nation can tolerate modern war.

The belief that war is not inevitable comes from no less a person than Dr. Arthur S. Flemming, director of the U. S. Office of Defense Mobilization. A native of this city, son of Judge and Mrs. Harry H. Flemming, his wide experience places him in a position to know whereof he speaks.

Dr. Flemming maintains that war is "definitely not inevitable", providing this nation puts into effect what Sir Winston Churchill refers to as 'defense through deterrents' and if we strengthen our spiritual foundations." Significantly he prescribed spiritual as well as material strength as deterrents to war. The need for armed strength needs no explanation. Unfortunately, though, many people cannot understand why spiritual resources are necessary for preserving peace.

The basis for peace is spiritual. The world we live in is a reflection of our own lives. The Biblical injunction, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself", applies on the world scene as it does at home. But if this command is disobeyed in our own lives, how can we expect it to prevail in the world at large?

According to Dr. Flemming, then, it is we as individuals who will determine whether war or peace will prevail. If we think war inevitable, it is certain to break out again, more horrible than ever.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

FREEDOM AGENDA

While the cry goes forth that the crime of the age is the insistence upon conformity, thousands of pamphlets, weekly newsletters and small publications give evidence of non-conformity, of an independence of thought and expression.

A group of pamphlets, entitled "Freedom Agenda," have been issued under the sponsorship of the Carrie Chapman Catt Memorial Fund, Inc., an organization created by the League of Women Voters, and financed by the Fund for the Republic to which the Ford Foundation contributed $15,000,000. The president of the Carrie Chapman Catt Memorial Fund., Inc., is Miss Anna Lord Strauss.

I am looking at a pamphlet prepared by Alan Westin, a lawyer, who writes on the subject, "The Constitution and Loyalty Programs." In this study, Mr. Westin comes up with this conclusion:

"The need to measure fidelity has also provided a fertile field for reckless and irresponsible politicians, who have been supported by groups to whom 'constitutional rights' is a dirty term and unorthodox thinking a sin. Demagogues of this ilk did not invent Communists or the Soviet Union, however, and it seems clear that the proper way to deal with them is not to abandon the quest for fidelity in public employment but to approach the task with sanity and justice, ignoring neither the dangers of Communist activity nor the menace of the radical 'security-firsters.'"

From this, it is possible to say that sin is evil but that objectionable persons are not to be trusted if they point out the sinners.

One of Mr. Westin's arguments dealing with the problem of evaluating loyalty to one's own government is this:

". . . When the question becomes that of loyalty to country, it is one of the oldest and most complex problems involved in the governing of men. Christ was disloyal to Rome, while Judas, betraying his Master, was loyal to the State, if a few battles had gone differently in 1776, George Washington would probably have been hanged for his disloyalty to the British Crown. Spartacus, William Tell, Anne Hutchinson, Robert E. Lee, Alexander Kerenski, Mohandas Gandhi—all these were 'traitors'—yet their names are sullied if put into the same company with Benedict Arnold, William Joyce, Vikdun Quisling, or Elizabeth Gurley Flynn."

Christ owed no loyalty to Rome. His loyalty was to God. But apart from that, Rome had conquered Palestine and defiled its Temple to God. The Jews, among whom Christ appeared as a teacher and whose followers regarded Him as a Messiah, were seeking freedom from a profane conqueror. Judas was loyal to no country; he was disloyal to One whom he regarded as his teacher. Perhaps Westin has a point about George Washington, but not about Spartacus, who was a labor leader in a slave labor economy, or William Tell who was loyal to his country but not to the enemy of his country.

I do not understand the reference to Anne Hutchinson who was disloyal to no one but engaged in religious dissent. Robert E. Lee found himself involved in a constitutional question as to whether a sovereign state could secede from the Union into which it entered by contract when it ratified the Constitution. Some said, yes; some said, no. The Northern victory in the War Between the States settled the argument of secession but it did not settle the relations between the sovereign states and the Federal Government, which still trouble us. When Grant accepted Lee's surrender, he did not treat Lee as a traitor but as a respected citizen whom history had placed on the losing side of an argument.

Nor was Alexander Kerensky a traitor. The Czar had already abdicated. A provisional government had come into existence, first under Grand Duke Michael and then under Prince Lvov. The Kerensky regime succeeded Lvov's. It was a patriotic administration which was recognized by the Allies and, for a time, by the Rusian people.

Mohandas Gandhi was no traitor. He was a social reformer who advocated and practised passive resistance. As a matter of fact, the British did not accuse him of treason.

Westin speaks of Benedict Arnold, William Joyce, Vikdun Quisling, and Elizabeth Curley Flynn. He says nothing of Alger Hiss, William Remington, Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, or of Dr. Klaus Fuchs or Alan Nunn May. Incidentally, no one has accused Elizabeth Curley Flynn of treason. She was never tried or convicted for such an offense.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON. M.D.

A THIRTY-HOUR WEEK?

As we all know, our population is aging; the life span is increasing and there are many more people living to the age of 65 and over. In the present American Congress, 40 per cent of the Senators are over 65 years of age. Almost similar figures apply to top executives, too. So far as the rank and file of workers is concerned, the idea seems to be that the individual over 65 is not worth keeping. If they are not, why should we permit individuals above these ages to occupy top and critical positions in our social structure? (I am paraphrasing a reprint from Hygeia, the Health magazine of the American Medical Association.)

Of course, some individuals welcome retirement and this should be granted but take the case of Dr. Harvey Cushing, the most distinguished neurological surgeon the world has yet known. In 1930, on the basis of a compulsory retirement rule, he retired from the Harvard faculty at a time when he was at the peak of his ability. He promptly accepted a full-time academic appointment at Yale. We cannot afford to waste such contributions.

Whenever society adopts a rule that eliminates the fit with the unfit, destroys the good with the bad, or punishes the innocent with the wicked, it is not a good rule and prevents progress.

Some argue that we must eliminate workers to make room for younger men so as not to impede their progress upward but we must remember that every older individual higher on the ladder of advancement is holding a job that a younger persons feels he can fill. This will always be true if we force everyone to retire at 50 or 45. The more workers we retire the greater the burden on the working group, particularly if we should lower the retirement ages for they will have to produce enough to support themselves and their families as well as the increased number of retired workers. "In a delicate way, it is a continuation of the jungle law of the fang and claw where the leaders of the pack survive only until the younger beasts grow fierce enough to eliminate them.

What is one answer to the problem? Unless we should develop more jobs than there are workers, an important step is the successive reduction in working hours for all workers rather than reducing older workers to the state of parasites. I venture to say that you and I will live to see a thirty hour week in industry.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA)—Head for the hills, men! The dam's broke!

That is about the only way to summarize the effect of the long-awaited Hoover Commission report on water resources and public power, irrigation, navigation and flood control policy.

It reveals a wide three-way split which can only make this issue more controversial than it has been before.

The most dramatic part of it is still to come.

This will be in the 1800 pages of four reports from task forces headed by Adm. Ben Moreell, chairman of Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp., Pittsburgh.

These reports will recommend that no more federal dams be built, that all existing dams be sold and that all local communities benefited by flood control, navigation and reclamation projects be required to pay a larger share of cost.

Disregarding these extreme positions, the 12-member commission on government organizations headed by President Herbert Hoover wrote its own report. But even this report is so divided that it is published in two parts.

IN VOLUME ONE—a pamphlet of 124 pages—are 15 recommendations of an 11-member majority.

In Volume Two—another pamphlet of 94 pages—are the dissents of four members. But what dissents they are!

Attorney General Herbert Brownell and Office of Defense Mobilization Director Arthur S. Flemming dissent on nine of 15 recommendations and on two policy statements covering future reclamation and public power developments.

The fact that these two cabinet officers jointly signed their dissent indicates that this is White House policy on these matters.

Commissioner James A. Farley, former Democratic National Committee chairman and postmaster general, then files a separate, general dissent. In it he rejects the philosophy of the commission for "overemphasizing the role of private enterprise in developing this country's water resources."

Then Rep. Chet Holifield (D.-Calif.) takes 84 pages for a 20-point dissent which is a blistering attack.

HE CHARGES THAT, "The commission has exceeded its jurisdiction . . . to ask the Congress to repudiate its own policies." He further declares that, "The commission's report is based on the investigations of a task force mainly inspired by preconceived ideas and personal predilections."

In general, Holifield's dissent follows what has been Democratic water policy for 20 years. What this indicates is that a major political issue on water policy is shaping up for 1956.

While the Hoover Commission majority report is a much watered down version of the task force recommendations, it is by no means a "middle-of-the-river" report.

It calls for a radically changed, nine-point water policy declaration by Congress and the creation of a new, top Water Resources Board in the President's office to administer this policy.

BUT WHEN THE COMMISSION recommends that all public power rates be set by Federal Power Commission to raise them to private power price levels, it raises a storm.

Building of government steam plants and power lines would be banned. Private power companies would be authorized to build the power plants or purchase the power at all government dam sites.

The Hoover report urges that Tennessee Valley, Bonneville, Missouri, Central Valley and other regional developments be organized as government corporations. Their revolving funds would be taken away and all their receipts would be turned into the U. S. Treasury. New capital for expansion would have to be raised by bond sales.

The Chief of Engineers would be given veto power over congressionally proposed projects. The Department of Agriculture's soil conservation dam program would be turned over to the Corps of Engineers.

The 160-acre limit law on reclamation land would be killed if the Hoover Commission had its way.

And user charges would be assessed on inland waterways for all except pleasure craft.

Congress Faces Several Propaganda Problems

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 5—So far as the general public is concerned, the case of Owen Lattimore, Far Eastern expert who was indicted by two federal grand juries on perjury charges, ended when the Department of Justice the other day asked a federal judge to dismiss the indictments. This doesn't mean that, however, guilt or innocence has been established. For, due to the legal battle waged by the defendant against the wording of the charges themselves, the case was never tried on its merits.

The controversy inside Washington, especially among lawyers, moreover, hasn't ended. The case will certainly be studied by one of the congressional investigating committees to determine whether in view of the 4-to-4 decision of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals anyone hereafter can be successfully prosecuted on perjury charges even when they involve the allegedly deliberate dissemination of propaganda beneficial to an enemy country.

IF THE FEDERAL judges appointed by Messrs. Roosevelt and Truman who now have reversed the entire trend of judicial interpretation of the scope of perjury charges are to remain in command, it could happen that even in wartime no such prosecutions as were effected in the 1940's against the promoters of Nazism could ever be successful again.

For the truth is that present-day "liberals who have inveighed against the nature of the indictments in the Lattimore case were in the forefront of the agitation to jail the Nazi followers in America on almost precisely the same ground a little more than a decade ago. But when alleged promoters of Communist causes now are indicted, the cry is that they would, if prosecuted, be punished for their beliefs and hence cannot be brought to trial on a perjury charge.

For the fundamental issue in the Lattimore case was whether the Far Eastern specialist lied when he denied that he was a "promoter of communist interests" and "follower of the communist line." The Grand Jury charged him with lying and one indictment said he "willfully and knowingly" promoted such causes. The issue was not whether anybody could promote the Communist cause in America on the public platform or in the press under the protection of the right of free speech and a free press. It was whether Lattimore lied when he denied carrying out that sort of a course in his writings and speeches.

THE SENATE INTERNAL Security subcommittee in September 1952 unanimously—that is, all Democrats and Republicans—made a report submitting to the Department of Justice five instances of alleged perjury charges and characterized Lattimore as a "conscious, articulate instrument of the Soviet conspiracy in the United States."

But the Department of Justice, after being blocked by the U. S. Court of Appeals as to the wording of the indictments, finally gave up last week the effort to prosecute. Hence, so far as the committee is concerned, it may find itself compelled to make an exhaustive review of the whole subject. For theoretically at least it could mean that hereafter a witness might mislead the committee and knowingly carry on a campaign of propaganda for an enemy country and yet not be subject to any curb whatsoever by the laws of the land. Plainly new legislation may be needed and that's what the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee has a duty to study, and to make such inquiries as are necessary in pursuit of that legislative objective.

RECENTLY there has been a hue and cry that internal security could readily be left to the FBI and the federal courts and that there was no need for congressional investigations. The latest developments, however, show the Department of Justice as throwing up its hands in helplessness when confronted with a case of a man whose writings it charged had coincided or paralleled the Communist causes. He denied being a promoter of Communist causes but the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in upholding the district court said in effect that whether he lied or not was immaterial because there was no right to trial of a man's belief or writings. In substance, the court's action means that the question of a false oath in a future case of this kind is an issue that cannot be submitted to a jury because the subject matter itself now is ruled to be insusceptible of proof.

This is a far-reaching application of a radical concept and overturns what has been an established principle of Anglo-American common law since the 16th century.

THE DECISION to drop the Lattimore case was not arrived at by the Department of Justice without considerable discussion among its lawyers. The case could have been taken on appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States. But to the top officials of the department it looked as if the whole thing might come to a head during the 1956 political campaign. So the Eisenhower administration, rather than risk the injection into partisan politics of the controversy—which, by the way, was begun in the courts by the Truman administration with the first indictments against Lattimore—decided to abandon it and pursue perhaps in some other case the issue of the scope of perjury indictments.

This, however, leaves several unresolved questions up to Congress and its security committees: Is new legislation needed to curb propagandists who, it may be alleged, willfully and knowingly promote Communist interests inside the United States? Are propagandists for Communist causes in America to have a free hand hereafter in the "cold war"? Is there to be a reversal of the "clear and present danger" doctrine of the late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, famous liberal? For it was he who declared that the right of free speech does not include the right to cry "fire" in a crowded theatre. The safety of the republic used to be paramount even with the judges of "liberal" persuasion—at least they didn't refuse to listen to the evidence of an alleged infraction.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Memphis, Tenn., July 4—After a visit to the sheriff's office in the courthouse of Crittenden county, Ark., a few miles west of the Mississippi opposite Memphis, Larry McMillen, of the Press-Scimitar, drove me down a hard-shell road to the site of the Dixon-Yates steam power plant, which has been raising political commotion in Washington and Tennessee. Here is another opportunity for the construction unions of the AF of L to loot and extort as most of them did on war construction and on the atomic plants at Paducah and at Joppa, Ill. There Ebasco Corporation had to give up on a vast job in surrender to the great corruption. Ebasco is trying again at Dixon-Yates.

McMillen covers the Arkansas run for the Press-Scimitar. I felt that I was doing a Lincoln Steffens in draining him of information as that old Communist brain-picker did for his "shame of the cities" in the muck-raking days. But Mac said I was his assignment today and rattled off information which I might not have gathered in weeks.

Cecil Goodwin, the sheriff, had laid it down that he would enforce the Arkansas Right-to-Work Law. I was wondering how a country sheriff would go about that. Orval Faubus, the governor of Arkansas, recently vetoed a bill to withhold "unemployment benefits" from picketing strikers. So an employer must pay taxes to support an idle employe parading before his place with abusive placards. Under Faubus, how much could the sheriff do against professional mischief-makers on a huge building job out in the cotton country in the dark of the moon?

We hove to a spot where several hard-used sedans were parked. The hokey-pokey wagon was open for business, offering sweet waters and candy bars. There were half a dozen heavy rigs off in the field of 142 acres, manned by subjects of William E. Maloney, the boss of the Operating Engineers, with headquarters in Chicago, a winter palace on Miami Beach and a de luxe farm in northern Illinois. He used to race his own stable of thoroughbreds. There were visible to the naked eye not more than half a dozen grub-hoe workers, subjects of Joe Moreschi, perpetual president-dictator of the Hodcarriers and Common Laborers. Another car came up and two men got out and came over to us. McMillen introduced me to John Gorman and Ed Tate.

Gorman is president of the building trades council of Memphis and Crittenden county. He is about 65, I would say, gray, spare and of better countenance than Moreschi, Nick Stirone, the racketeer of the Pittsburgh jurisdiction, and the late Mike Carrozzo, of Chicago, who started as a bargaining agent for prostitutes and died owing the U. S. treasury $250,000 tax delinquency on his union graft. None of those parasites ever was elected to any union office. Gorman, I had learned, bears a decent reputation in Memphis. But even so he was a door-to-door peddler, selling stockings up to 15 years ago and then, about 50, became a laborer. Now he shows signs of substantial wealth so I am inquiring further. It would mean nothing in many of our states but, in Tennessee, the fact that he is a member of the lower house in the Legislature seems to be a favorable distinction.

Tate is a younger fellow. He had a fine purple shanty on his right eye. He seemed a little morose, but McMillen told me later that Tate had said, "well, that Pegler is like Davy Crockett. He says what he believes." Tate looked about and commented on the absence of police protection.

Mr. Gorman began it. He said he had read my work about his union. I asked him how long he had been in it. He said 17 years. I asked whether he had attended the first convention and election in 32 years, held in St. Louis in 1941. He said no. I mentioned a character named Irving, boss of some Kansas City locals who had been congressman from Harry Truman's home district.

"He had two Cadillacs in

AUTOMOTIVE AVALANCHE

In the world of the highway, when you start by-passing the by-passes you're in trouble. And that, apparently, is about to happen.

The Wall Street Journal, in a roundup look at the nation's traffic tangles, found that situation just one of many oddities as cities across the land strive desperately to cope with their problems.

The avalanche of vehicles is snowing them under. In half a year there will be 60 million cars and trucks on the road, virtually double the number a decade ago.

By 1965, say the experts, the total will pass 80 million vehicles. Beyond that, we'll begin to talk in terms of 100 million.

The highways we have, even most of the ones we're planning, won't be able to take the load. They're already saturated with traffic in many, many instances.

Two-lane roads have a safe, comfortable load limit of around 5000 cars a day. But many bear far greater burdens, sometimes six times that many.

Even fabulous new expressways are smothered in traffic. The Hollywood freeway in Los Angeles was built to accommodate 100,000, but already it is handling 168,000 daily. New Jersey Turnpike authorities will tell you that super-highway carries traffic now that the engineers thought it wouldn't see for three decades.

At rush hours or on crowded weekends, the slightest mishap sometimes can tie up traffic for miles. Los Angeles is seriously searching for helicopters big enough to hoist wrecked cars off its freeways to uncork accident bottlenecks.

It would be foolish to say that the country is not at last awake to the magnitude of the traffic problem. President Eisenhower's proposal for a 101 billion dollar highway program, by far the costliest yet suggested, shows recognition of the difficulties ahead.

But all the evidence at hand indicates that neither the federal government nor the states and cities are planning with sufficient vision and scope to surmount the problem in the foreseeable future.

The truth is painful: We are swamped by the swelling flood of traffic. And the tide of cars is rising so swiftly and so high that we are likely to stay swamped unless we get some plans that fit the size of the problem.

The answer clearly belongs in the realm of staggering billions. Anything less won't buy us much space on the highways. And space means lives.

SPIRITUAL DETERRENTS

Many people believe that war is inevitable, that at best hostilities can be deferred, but that eventually international differences must be settled with armed conflict.

This feeling is defeatist. A nation expecting war is certain to find it, especially in a democracy where public opinion is so powerful and inflammable. But this feeling is unnecessary, for the world today stands on the brink of an era of lasting peace, partly because no nation can tolerate modern war.

The belief that war is not inevitable comes from no less a person than Dr. Arthur S. Flemming, director of the U. S. Office of Defense Mobilization. A native of this city, son of Judge and Mrs. Harry H. Flemming, his wide experience places him in a position to know whereof he speaks.

Dr. Flemming maintains that war is "definitely not inevitable", providing this nation puts into effect what Sir Winston Churchill refers to as 'defense through deterrents' and if we strengthen our spiritual foundations." Significantly he prescribed spiritual as well as material strength as deterrents to war. The need for armed strength needs no explanation. Unfortunately, though, many people cannot understand why spiritual resources are necessary for preserving peace.

The basis for peace is spiritual. The world we live in is a reflection of our own lives. The Biblical injunction, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself", applies on the world scene as it does at home. But if this command is disobeyed in our own lives, how can we expect it to prevail in the world at large?

According to Dr. Flemming, then, it is we as individuals who will determine whether war or peace will prevail. If we think war inevitable, it is certain to break out again, more horrible than ever.

'These Days'

FREEDOM AGENDA

While the cry goes forth that the crime of the age is the insistence upon conformity, thousands of pamphlets, weekly newsletters and small publications give evidence of non-conformity, of an independence of thought and expression.

A group of pamphlets, entitled "Freedom Agenda," have been issued under the sponsorship of the Carrie Chapman Catt Memorial Fund, Inc., an organization created by the League of Women Voters, and financed by the Fund for the Republic to which the Ford Foundation contributed $15,000,000. The president of the Carrie Chapman Catt Memorial Fund., Inc., is Miss Anna Lord Strauss.

I am looking at a pamphlet prepared by Alan Westin, a lawyer, who writes on the subject, "The Constitution and Loyalty Programs." In this study, Mr. Westin comes up with this conclusion:

"The need to measure fidelity has also provided a fertile field for reckless and irresponsible politicians, who have been supported by groups to whom 'constitutional rights' is a dirty term and unorthodox thinking a sin. Demagogues of this ilk did not invent Communists or the Soviet Union, however, and it seems clear that the proper way to deal with them is not to abandon the quest for fidelity in public employment but to approach the task with sanity and justice, ignoring neither the dangers of Communist activity nor the menace of the radical 'security-firsters.'"

From this, it is possible to say that sin is evil but that objectionable persons are not to be trusted if they point out the sinners.

One of Mr. Westin's arguments dealing with the problem of evaluating loyalty to one's own government is this:

". . . When the question becomes that of loyalty to country, it is one of the oldest and most complex problems involved in the governing of men. Christ was disloyal to Rome, while Judas, betraying his Master, was loyal to the State, if a few battles had gone differently in 1776, George Washington would probably have been hanged for his disloyalty to the British Crown. Spartacus, William Tell, Anne Hutchinson, Robert E. Lee, Alexander Kerenski, Mohandas Gandhi—all these were 'traitors'—yet their names are sullied if put into the same company with Benedict Arnold, William Joyce, Vikdun Quisling, or Elizabeth Gurley Flynn."

Christ owed no loyalty to Rome. His loyalty was to God. But apart from that, Rome had conquered Palestine and defiled its Temple to God. The Jews, among whom Christ appeared as a teacher and whose followers regarded Him as a Messiah, were seeking freedom from a profane conqueror. Judas was loyal to no country; he was disloyal to One whom he regarded as his teacher. Perhaps Westin has a point about George Washington, but not about Spartacus, who was a labor leader in a slave labor economy, or William Tell who was loyal to his country but not to the enemy of his country.

I do not understand the reference to Anne Hutchinson who was disloyal to no one but engaged in religious dissent. Robert E. Lee found himself involved in a constitutional question as to whether a sovereign state could secede from the Union into which it entered by contract when it ratified the Constitution. Some said, yes; some said, no. The Northern victory in the War Between the States settled the argument of secession but it did not settle the relations between the sovereign states and the Federal Government, which still trouble us. When Grant accepted Lee's surrender, he did not treat Lee as a traitor but as a respected citizen whom history had placed on the losing side of an argument.

Nor was Alexander Kerensky a traitor. The Czar had already abdicated. A provisional government had come into existence, first under Grand Duke Michael and then under Prince Lvov. The Kerensky regime succeeded Lvov's. It was a patriotic administration which was recognized by the Allies and, for a time, by the Rusian people.

Mohandas Gandhi was no traitor. He was a social reformer who advocated and practised passive resistance. As a matter of fact, the British did not accuse him of treason.

Westin speaks of Benedict Arnold, William Joyce, Vikdun Quisling, and Elizabeth Curley Flynn. He says nothing of Alger Hiss, William Remington, Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, or of Dr. Klaus Fuchs or Alan Nunn May. Incidentally, no one has accused Elizabeth Curley Flynn of treason. She was never tried or convicted for such an offense.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

A THIRTY-HOUR WEEK?

As we all know, our population is aging; the life span is increasing and there are many more people living to the age of 65 and over. In the present American Congress, 40 per cent of the Senators are over 65 years of age. Almost similar figures apply to top executives, too. So far as the rank and file of workers is concerned, the idea seems to be that the individual over 65 is not worth keeping. If they are not, why should we permit individuals above these ages to occupy top and critical positions in our social structure? (I am paraphrasing a reprint from Hygeia, the Health magazine of the American Medical Association.)

Of course, some individuals welcome retirement and this should be granted but take the case of Dr. Harvey Cushing, the most distinguished neurological surgeon the world has yet known. In 1930, on the basis of a compulsory retirement rule, he retired from the Harvard faculty at a time when he was at the peak of his ability. He promptly accepted a full-time academic appointment at Yale. We cannot afford to waste such contributions.

Whenever society adopts a rule that eliminates the fit with the unfit, destroys the good with the bad, or punishes the innocent with the wicked, it is not a good rule and prevents progress.

Some argue that we must eliminate workers to make room for younger men so as not to impede their progress upward but we must remember that every older individual higher on the ladder of advancement is holding a job that a younger persons feels he can fill. This will always be true if we force everyone to retire at 50 or 45. The more workers we retire the greater the burden on the working group, particularly if we should lower the retirement ages for they will have to produce enough to support themselves and their families as well as the increased number of retired workers. "In a delicate way, it is a continuation of the jungle law of the fang and claw where the leaders of the pack survive only until the younger beasts grow fierce enough to eliminate them.

What is one answer to the problem? Unless we should develop more jobs than there are workers, an important step is the successive reduction in working hours for all workers rather than reducing older workers to the state of parasites. I venture to say that you and I will live to see a thirty hour week in industry.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA)—Head for the hills, men! The dam's broke!

That is about the only way to summarize the effect of the long-awaited Hoover Commission report on water resources and public power, irrigation, navigation and flood control policy.

It reveals a wide three-way split which can only make this issue more controversial than it has been before.

The most dramatic part of it is still to come.

This will be in the 1800 pages of four reports from task forces headed by Adm. Ben Moreell, chairman of Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp., Pittsburgh.

These reports will recommend that no more federal dams be built, that all existing dams be sold and that all local communities benefited by flood control, navigation and reclamation projects be required to pay a larger share of cost.

Disregarding these extreme positions, the 12-member commission on government organizations headed by President Herbert Hoover wrote its own report. But even this report is so divided that it is published in two parts.

IN VOLUME ONE—a pamphlet of 124 pages—are 15 recommendations of an 11-member majority.

In Volume Two—another pamphlet of 94 pages—are the dissents of four members. But what dissents they are!

Attorney General Herbert Brownell and Office of Defense Mobilization Director Arthur S. Flemming dissent on nine of 15 recommendations and on two policy statements covering future reclamation and public power developments.

The fact that these two cabinet officers jointly signed their dissent indicates that this is White House policy on these matters.

Commissioner James A. Farley, former Democratic National Committee chairman and postmaster general, then files a separate, general dissent. In it he rejects the philosophy of the commission for "overemphasizing the role of private enterprise in developing this country's water resources."

Then Rep. Chet Holifield (D.-Calif.) takes 84 pages for a 20-point dissent which is a blistering attack.

HE CHARGES THAT, "The commission has exceeded its jurisdiction . . . to ask the Congress to repudiate its own policies." He further declares that, "The commission's report is based on the investigations of a task force mainly inspired by preconceived ideas and personal predilections."

In general, Holifield's dissent follows what has been Democratic water policy for 20 years. What this indicates is that a major political issue on water policy is shaping up for 1956.

While the Hoover Commission majority report is a much watered down version of the task force recommendations, it is by no means a "middle-of-the-river" report.

It calls for a radically changed, nine-point water policy declaration by Congress and the creation of a new, top Water Resources Board in the President's office to administer this policy.

BUT WHEN THE COMMISSION recommends that all public power rates be set by Federal Power Commission to raise them to private power price levels, it raises a storm.

Building of government steam plants and power lines would be banned. Private power companies would be authorized to build the power plants or purchase the power at all government dam sites.

The Hoover report urges that Tennessee Valley, Bonneville, Missouri, Central Valley and other regional developments be organized as government corporations. Their revolving funds would be taken away and all their receipts would be turned into the U. S. Treasury. New capital for expansion would have to be raised by bond sales.

The Chief of Engineers would be given veto power over congressionally proposed projects. The Department of Agriculture's soil conservation dam program would be turned over to the Corps of Engineers.

The 160-acre limit law on reclamation land would be killed if the Hoover Commission had its way.

And user charges would be assessed on inland waterways for all except pleasure craft.

Congress Faces Several Propaganda Problems

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 5—So far as the general public is concerned, the case of Owen Lattimore, Far Eastern expert who was indicted by two federal grand juries on perjury charges, ended when the Department of Justice the other day asked a federal judge to dismiss the indictments. This doesn't mean that, however, guilt or innocence has been established. For, due to the legal battle waged by the defendant against the wording of the charges themselves, the case was never tried on its merits.

The controversy inside Washington, especially among lawyers, moreover, hasn't ended. The case will certainly be studied by one of the congressional investigating committees to determine whether in view of the 4-to-4 decision of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals anyone hereafter can be successfully prosecuted on perjury charges even when they involve the allegedly deliberate dissemination of propaganda beneficial to an enemy country.

IF THE FEDERAL judges appointed by Messrs. Roosevelt and Truman who now have reversed the entire trend of judicial interpretation of the scope of perjury charges are to remain in command, it could happen that even in wartime no such prosecutions as were effected in the 1940's against the promoters of Nazism could ever be successful again.

For the truth is that present-day "liberals who have inveighed against the nature of the indictments in the Lattimore case were in the forefront of the agitation to jail the Nazi followers in America on almost precisely the same ground a little more than a decade ago. But when alleged promoters of Communist causes now are indicted, the cry is that they would, if prosecuted, be punished for their beliefs and hence cannot be brought to trial on a perjury charge.

For the fundamental issue in the Lattimore case was whether the Far Eastern specialist lied when he denied that he was a "promoter of communist interests" and "follower of the communist line." The Grand Jury charged him with lying and one indictment said he "willfully and knowingly" promoted such causes. The issue was not whether anybody could promote the Communist cause in America on the public platform or in the press under the protection of the right of free speech and a free press. It was whether Lattimore lied when he denied carrying out that sort of a course in his writings and speeches.

THE SENATE INTERNAL Security subcommittee in September 1952 unanimously—that is, all Democrats and Republicans—made a report submitting to the Department of Justice five instances of alleged perjury charges and characterized Lattimore as a "conscious, articulate instrument of the Soviet conspiracy in the United States."

But the Department of Justice, after being blocked by the U. S. Court of Appeals as to the wording of the indictments, finally gave up last week the effort to prosecute. Hence, so far as the committee is concerned, it may find itself compelled to make an exhaustive review of the whole subject. For theoretically at least it could mean that hereafter a witness might mislead the committee and knowingly carry on a campaign of propaganda for an enemy country and yet not be subject to any curb whatsoever by the laws of the land. Plainly new legislation may be needed and that's what the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee has a duty to study, and to make such inquiries as are necessary in pursuit of that legislative objective.

RECENTLY there has been a hue and cry that internal security could readily be left to the FBI and the federal courts and that there was no need for congressional investigations. The latest developments, however, show the Department of Justice as throwing up its hands in helplessness when confronted with a case of a man whose writings it charged had coincided or paralleled the Communist causes. He denied being a promoter of Communist causes but the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in upholding the district court said in effect that whether he lied or not was immaterial because there was no right to trial of a man's belief or writings. In substance, the court's action means that the question of a false oath in a future case of this kind is an issue that cannot be submitted to a jury because the subject matter itself now is ruled to be insusceptible of proof.

This is a far-reaching application of a radical concept and overturns what has been an established principle of Anglo-American common law since the 16th century.

THE DECISION to drop the Lattimore case was not arrived at by the Department of Justice without considerable discussion among its lawyers. The case could have been taken on appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States. But to the top officials of the department it looked as if the whole thing might come to a head during the 1956 political campaign. So the Eisenhower administration, rather than risk the injection into partisan politics of the controversy—which, by the way, was begun in the courts by the Truman administration with the first indictments against Lattimore—decided to abandon it and pursue perhaps in some other case the issue of the scope of perjury indictments.

This, however, leaves several unresolved questions up to Congress and its security committees: Is new legislation needed to curb propagandists who, it may be alleged, willfully and knowingly promote Communist interests inside the United States? Are propagandists for Communist causes in America to have a free hand hereafter in the "cold war"? Is there to be a reversal of the "clear and present danger" doctrine of the late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, famous liberal? For it was he who declared that the right of free speech does not include the right to cry "fire" in a crowded theatre. The safety of the republic used to be paramount even with the judges of "liberal" persuasion—at least they didn't refuse to listen to the evidence of an alleged infraction.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Memphis, Tenn., July 4—After a visit to the sheriff's office in the courthouse of Crittenden county, Ark., a few miles west of the Mississippi opposite Memphis, Larry McMillen, of the Press-Scimitar, drove me down a hard-shell road to the site of the Dixon-Yates steam power plant, which has been raising political commotion in Washington and Tennessee. Here is another opportunity for the construction unions of the AF of L to loot and extort as most of them did on war construction and on the atomic plants at Paducah and at Joppa, Ill. There Ebasco Corporation had to give up on a vast job in surrender to the great corruption. Ebasco is trying again at Dixon-Yates.

McMillen covers the Arkansas run for the Press-Scimitar. I felt that I was doing a Lincoln Steffens in draining him of information as that old Communist brain-picker did for his "shame of the cities" in the muck-raking days. But Mac said I was his assignment today and rattled off information which I might not have gathered in weeks.

Cecil Goodwin, the sheriff, had laid it down that he would enforce the Arkansas Right-to-Work Law. I was wondering how a country sheriff would go about that. Orval Faubus, the governor of Arkansas, recently vetoed a bill to withhold "unemployment benefits" from picketing strikers. So an employer must pay taxes to support an idle employe parading before his place with abusive placards. Under Faubus, how much could the sheriff do against professional mischief-makers on a huge building job out in the cotton country in the dark of the moon?

We hove to a spot where several hard-used sedans were parked. The hokey-pokey wagon was open for business, offering sweet waters and candy bars. There were half a dozen heavy rigs off in the field of 142 acres, manned by subjects of William E. Maloney, the boss of the Operating Engineers, with headquarters in Chicago, a winter palace on Miami Beach and a de luxe farm in northern Illinois. He used to race his own stable of thoroughbreds. There were visible to the naked eye not more than half a dozen grub-hoe workers, subjects of Joe Moreschi, perpetual president-dictator of the Hodcarriers and Common Laborers. Another car came up and two men got out and came over to us. McMillen introduced me to John Gorman and Ed Tate.

Gorman is president of the building trades council of Memphis and Crittenden county. He is about 65, I would say, gray, spare and of better countenance than Moreschi, Nick Stirone, the racketeer of the Pittsburgh jurisdiction, and the late Mike Carrozzo, of Chicago, who started as a bargaining agent for prostitutes and died owing the U. S. treasury $250,000 tax delinquency on his union graft. None of those parasites ever was elected to any union office. Gorman, I had learned, bears a decent reputation in Memphis. But even so he was a door-to-door peddler, selling stockings up to 15 years ago and then, about 50, became a laborer. Now he shows signs of substantial wealth so I am inquiring further. It would mean nothing in many of our states but, in Tennessee, the fact that he is a member of the lower house in the Legislature seems to be a favorable distinction.

Tate is a younger fellow. He had a fine purple shanty on his right eye. He seemed a little morose, but McMillen told me later that Tate had said, "well, that Pegler is like Davy Crockett. He says what he believes." Tate looked about and commented on the absence of police protection.

Mr. Gorman began it. He said he had read my work about his union. I asked him how long he had been in it. He said 17 years. I asked whether he had attended the first convention and election in 32 years, held in St. Louis in 1941. He said no. I mentioned a character named Irving, boss of some Kansas City locals who had been congressman from Harry Truman's home district.

"He had two Cadillacs in

Investor Forum

Harry C. France

Some values have kept pace with the inflation. Those of the oil industry have. Any investor holding sound petroleum shares since 1935 has seen prices boom and income grow—in many cases sensationally.

In 1935 the average crude oil price a barrel at the wells was 97 cents. Ten years later, in 1945, it was $1.22. And during the past 10 years it has gone to its present price—about $2.76 a barrel.

The inflation of wages, costs and taxes is reflected in the above figures. Will crude oil eventually go to $4 and $5 a barrel despite the discovery of giant reserves in many parts of the world? I think so. The use of oil is constantly growing and rising costs will combine to put crude prices up.

I know of no basic industry more suitable for sound investment for conservative people than oil. And in this article I want to speak briefly of a few corporations, each of which is doing a billion dollars worth of business a year.

DURING 1954 these eight enterprises (listed alphabetically) sold over $15,000,000,000 of oil and oil products:

Gulf, Shell, Sinclair, Socony, Standard Oil of California, Standard Oil of Indiana, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Texas.

Each did more than $1,000,000,000 worth of business in a year. And for 1955 all sales will be higher. It is a growth industry.

From 1935, when crude oil sold for 97 cents a barrel, to 1955, when it is bringing about $2.76, the dividends of the best common stocks in the oil industry have increased 500 per cent—more in some instances. Prices for oil shares have literally gone through the roof.

Average growth of income has been around 25 per cent a year, and average price increase of shares has been as good.

I would encourage interested investors to spend hours reading and studying the economic facts and statistics of leading oil corporations. New York Stock Exchange firms have offices throughout America where this information is on file.

Statistics may be dry—they often are. But even a casual look at those of leading petroleum coprorations can provide the basis of dependable opinions upon which action can be taken.

For instance, here is the recent record of my favorite oil company. Twenty years ago, when sales were around $175,000,000 annually, earnings on 13,000,000 common shares were about $2. Ten years ago sales were $350,000,000 and earnings on the same number of shares were well over $4.

Today, sales are over $1,100,000,000 annually, and with 30,000,000 common shares outstanding, earnings are more than $7 a common share. By 1960 sales will probably touch $2,000,000,000 and, unless corporation taxes (already too high) are increased, earnings will be $10 or $12 a common share.

Frequently in this column I remind my readers that blue chip common stock prices are high. And the oil stocks are no exception. But in this inflationary world it is better to pay a high price for a sound growth stock than it is to let the money deteriorate in fixed dollars and income obligations. Growth always catches up with price.

President Goes Back to Capital

Washington, July 5 (AP)—President Eisenhower returned to the White House shortly after midnight (EDT) this morning after spending a 3½-day weekend at Gettysburg, Pa., and in the mountains of Maryland.

In what was evidently a last-minute switch in plans, the President started back to the capital by auto late last night. Earlier it had been announced he would delay his return until today's daylight hours.

He began the long holiday weekend when he and Mrs. Eisenhower gave a picnic for White House staff members and their families on Friday at their farm near Gettysburg. It was their 39th wedding anniversary. The Eisenhowers spent several hours at the farm again yesterday.

They spent the remainder of the weekend at nearby Camp David in the Catoctin Mountains near Thurmont, Md. The President spent some time yesterday practicing on a golf green installed at the Camp David lodge.

Senator Johnson Has Heart Attack

Washington, July 5 (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D.-Tex.) was said yesterday to be still in serious condition but "making satisfactory progress."

Johnson, the Senate Democratic leader, suffered late Saturday a heart attack which aides have said will keep him away from the Senate for the remainder of this session.

He is a patient at the Naval Medical Center at suburban Bethesda, Md.

A hospital report late yesterday said: "Sen. Johnson had a comfortable day. His physicians consider that he is making satisfactory progress but his condition remains serious."

In his absence, Sen. Clements (D.-Ky) will act as majority floor leader for the remainder of this session of Congress. Leaders are aiming for adjournment around July 30.

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME (Registered U. S. Patent Office) By JIMMY HATLO

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

Town Board Renames Attendance Officer

Woodstock, July 5—Elizabeth MacDaniel was reappointed attendance officer for the school district at an annual salary of $100, at the meeting of the Town Board Wednesday night.

Announcement was made that two requests for traffic control had been answered by the State Traffic Commission. A study will be made of the possible need for a stop sign and speed control signs at the corner of Route 212 and Dixon avenue at the Woodstock Meadows development. At this time no reduced speed signs near the Woodstock School are being contemplated.

Two bridges are being replaced in the township with Woodstock's county maintenance funds, it was explained by Joseph Fitzsimmons, supervisor. One bridge near Parnassus Square has been completed and the other is in process of completion on Glasco Turnpike a short distance west of Rock City road.

The board has decided to charge $10 annually to persons who hook up a fire sprinkler system to the water district lines. To date only two such systems have been installed in town, in compliance with the multiple dwelling law. They are the Woodstock Inn and the bakery building owned by Kenneth Wilson.

Has New Program

Woodstock, July 5—This season the Zena Gallery is introducing to the residents of Woodstock and the surrounding area a new rental program. It is hoped that this program will create a more lively interest among the more hesitant picture buyers by giving them a chance to live with pictures for awhile, free from the clamor of group exhibitions. Proceeds from the rental service will go to the maintenance of the gallery rather than to the artist. The real benefit to the individual artist in such a program is the increased possibility for selling his work.

Discussion Planned

Woodstock, July 5—On Friday, July 8, at 8:45 p. m., the Woodstock Artists Association will present a panel discussion entitled "The Last Ten Years." Those participating will be Henry Morton Robinson, Heywood Hale Broun and Ira Wolfert. Sidney Laufman will be acting as moderator. The public is invited to attend. This program will be held at the Art Gallery.

Will Hold Classes

Woodstock, July 5 — Miss Frances Dederick, director of the Parnassus Square Galleries, has announced the following schedule of classes to be held during the summer at the gallery studios: Painting—Lucile Blanch, Tuesday and Thursday, 9:30 a. m. to 12 noon; Sculpture—Dina Melicov, Tuesday and Thursday and Saturday, 9:30 a. m. to 12 noon; Life Class—Mark Vukovic, Monday evening, 8 p. m., Modern Dance—Ruth Wolfert, age 9-12 Monday and Wednesday, 2 to 3 p. m., age 5 to 8, Monday and Wednesday, 3 to 4 p. m., teen age, Monday and Wednesday, 4 to 5 p. m., adults, Monday and Wednesday, 8 to 9 p. m.; Sketch Class—Frances Dederick, Tuesday at 8 p. m.; Writers Work Shop—E. Deborah Atkin, Thursday at 8 p. m.

Exhibition Opens

Woodstock, July 5—An exhibition of paintings by the Creative Contemporary Art Group opened June 26 at the Parnassus Square Galleries, and will continue through July 9. The show is largely abstract with several semi-abstract and representational paintings included. Noted with interest was the vibrant "Flowers Jungle" by T. M. Rimai, the crisp "Mail Box" of Harold Laynor; T. M. Rimai's cleverly devised "Jazz Mosaic"; the symbolic and frightening interpretation of Harold Laynor's "Night Driving"; the charming and delicately handled "Window in Florence" a watercolor by Lily Shokan; the appealing study of a boy on his horse, "David and Sheila" by Henry L. Rittenhouse; the tempestuous "Earth's Elements" by D. Serposa; and Eva Lapoosky's rhythmic "Glis-

Musical Opens Playhouse Season

Woodstock, July 5—When a Shakespearean plot, particularly one of such tempestuous proportions as the "Taming of the Shrew," becomes embroiled with a re-born backstage romance of equally incendiary materials, the atmosphere is bound to crackle, snap and burst with excitement. Add two gangsters with guns within easy reach and the resulting fireworks sent the opening production, "Kiss Me Kate" at the Woodstock Playhouse Friday night, off to a resounding and uproarious start.

For a time, through the opening ensemble number, "Another Op'nin,'Another Show" it seemed as though the soggy heat of the evening might have gotten the best of the cast, but with the perfectly wonderful singing of "Wunderbar" by the two superlative principals, Robert Penn as Fred Graham and Petruchio, and Elizabeth Parrish as Lilli Vanessi and Katherine, the show was off on its rollicking pace and things settled down—or rather blew up—into a holocaust of fun and entertainment.

WHERE SHAKESPEARE left off Sam and Bella Spewack have taken over with a few extra slaps, bites and arm twists, and Robert Penn and Elizabeth Parrish carry on in admirable fashion both the Bard's and their own strenuous dispute, heightening their performances with some fine singing indeed.

The two deadpan characters, who finally come to life with a large injection of Shakespeare are played by Leonardo Cimino and Playhouse director, Michael Howard.

Chevi Colton, faithful after her fashion as the desirable Lois Lane bounced through her clusters of admirers to sing with abandon "Always True to You." She pranced happily through a series of encores giving no hint of a badly sprained ankle suffered the day before the opening.

THE HEAT APPEARED to have no effect whatsoever on the ebullience and excellent technique of dancers Bill McDonald and Charles Queenan and Jack Spencer. They contributed much to the excitement of the show as did the singing and dancing ensemble. Alma Hubbard brought some bright moments singing and as Miss Vanessi's dresser. Charles Queenan's "Too Darn Hot" was apropos and spirited. Frank Daly as Harry Trevor, and Katherine's father Baptists in the "Taming of the Shrew" episodes was excellent.

Two pianos are not a 30 piece orchestra, but the accompaniment of Abba Bogin, musical director, assisted by Norma Champanier is superb and leaves nothing to be desired.

Leibhardt

Leibhardt, July 5—Callers during the week on Mrs. E. B. Markle included Miss Marguerite Kelder, Miss Lillian C. Hyatt of Rosendale, Miss Clara Frank of Rochester Center, Mrs. Perna Markle and friends of Mettacahonts. Investor Forum

Harry C. France

Some values have kept pace with the inflation. Those of the oil industry have. Any investor holding sound petroleum shares since 1935 has seen prices boom and income grow—in many cases sensationally.

In 1935 the average crude oil price a barrel at the wells was 97 cents. Ten years later, in 1945, it was $1.22. And during the past 10 years it has gone to its present price—about $2.76 a barrel.

The inflation of wages, costs and taxes is reflected in the above figures. Will crude oil eventually go to $4 and $5 a barrel despite the discovery of giant reserves in many parts of the world? I think so. The use of oil is constantly growing and rising costs will combine to put crude prices up.

I know of no basic industry more suitable for sound investment for conservative people than oil. And in this article I want to speak briefly of a few corporations, each of which is doing a billion dollars worth of business a year.

DURING 1954 these eight enterprises (listed alphabetically) sold over $15,000,000,000 of oil and oil products:

Gulf, Shell, Sinclair, Socony, Standard Oil of California, Standard Oil of Indiana, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Texas.

Each did more than $1,000,000,000 worth of business in a year. And for 1955 all sales will be higher. It is a growth industry.

From 1935, when crude oil sold for 97 cents a barrel, to 1955, when it is bringing about $2.76, the dividends of the best common stocks in the oil industry have increased 500 per cent—more in some instances. Prices for oil shares have literally gone through the roof.

Average growth of income has been around 25 per cent a year, and average price increase of shares has been as good.

I would encourage interested investors to spend hours reading and studying the economic facts and statistics of leading oil corporations. New York Stock Exchange firms have offices throughout America where this information is on file.

Statistics may be dry—they often are. But even a casual look at those of leading petroleum coprorations can provide the basis of dependable opinions upon which action can be taken.

For instance, here is the recent record of my favorite oil company. Twenty years ago, when sales were around $175,000,000 annually, earnings on 13,000,000 common shares were about $2. Ten years ago sales were $350,000,000 and earnings on the same number of shares were well over $4.

Today, sales are over $1,100,000,000 annually, and with 30,000,000 common shares outstanding, earnings are more than $7 a common share. By 1960 sales will probably touch $2,000,000,000 and, unless corporation taxes (already too high) are increased, earnings will be $10 or $12 a common share.

Frequently in this column I remind my readers that blue chip common stock prices are high. And the oil stocks are no exception. But in this inflationary world it is better to pay a high price for a sound growth stock than it is to let the money deteriorate in fixed dollars and income obligations. Growth always catches up with price.

President Goes Back to Capital

Washington, July 5 (AP)—President Eisenhower returned to the White House shortly after midnight (EDT) this morning after spending a 3½-day weekend at Gettysburg, Pa., and in the mountains of Maryland.

In what was evidently a last-minute switch in plans, the President started back to the capital by auto late last night. Earlier it had been announced he would delay his return until today's daylight hours.

He began the long holiday weekend when he and Mrs. Eisenhower gave a picnic for White House staff members and their families on Friday at their farm near Gettysburg. It was their 39th wedding anniversary. The Eisenhowers spent several hours at the farm again yesterday.

They spent the remainder of the weekend at nearby Camp David in the Catoctin Mountains near Thurmont, Md. The President spent some time yesterday practicing on a golf green installed at the Camp David lodge.

Why We Say--

GENTLEMAN

The word gentleman is presently applied to a man who displays good social conduct. However, the original meaning of the word was associated with family status at birth and not culture. Gentleman comes from the Latin "gens" which meant "of a good family" . . . therefore, by birth a man was or was not a ("gensman") gentleman.

Postmen Get Carts

Paducah, Ky. (AP) — After 35 years as a mail carrier, J. E. Lovvo finally decided there must be an easier way to tote the heavy leather bag. So he bought a two-wheeled caddy cart. Three other carriers also bought carts. And the post office ordered seven more for the rest of the carriers.

Why We Say--

GENTLEMAN

The word gentleman is presently applied to a man who displays good social conduct. However, the original meaning of the word was associated with family status at birth and not culture. Gentleman comes from the Latin "gens" which meant "of a good family" . . . therefore, by birth a man was or was not a ("gensman") gentleman.

Marvelous Uncle Mart

By FRANK TRIPP

You didn't know Uncle Mart; you couldn't very well. He died when I was a shank of a boy, but I always remember him around the Glorious Fourth. He had some odd ways, among them the way to escape work.

He was my mother's uncle, though he ran far afield of the rest of our tribe. Just the same mother sheltered him much—my father said to "blow at."

Uncle Mart was named for Martin Van Buren. He was very proud of his name, being a free trader himself. I remember one time when he was on one of his stated stays at our house, he came home pretty well beat up because of his name.

When the old boy got his pension he found queer places to go and he didn't always come back as good as he went nor with much of his pension. Once in a while he'd bring home a cosy little brannigan. We knew then that Uncle Mart was about to change abode. My mother was an ardent white-ribboner.

THIS TIME Uncle Mart got away with it. His alibi posed a historical fact which it took me years to understand. To him the Civil War was a continuous, unending thing and he stayed right in the midst of it. Pension time was a grand campfire with old cronies. He got bunged up for expounding his knowledge of the eighth President of the United States, whose name he bore.

To another stalwart, tipsy patriot Uncle Mart proclaimed that Martin Van Buren was the first real American to be President. Whereupon the comrade, recalling George Washington, let Uncle Mart have it on the beezer. My kin suffered this dastardly assault in spite of the technical accuracy of his statement.

Van Buren, though the eighth President, was the first to be born an American citizen after the Declaration of Independence. The first seven were born British subjects. A fact which Uncle Mart was not given time to clarify.

I DOUBT if Uncle Mart ever did a solid year's work after being mustered out of the cavalry. He visited from relative to relative with the punctuality of the moon. He was immaculate and smart, tall and genteel in his way. He was witty and full of tall stories.

He knew when to move on; could sense his welcome waning and pulled stakes before his in-laws got too fed up on him. Thus he was always welcomed back, in spite of his faults.

He brought new crops of stories and weird experiences; everybody wanted to hear "Uncle Mart's lies." He was looked upon as a much-traveled man, though he moved in a circle not more than 50 miles wide. But he got to know everybody and see everything therein.

THE CHILDREN clung to Uncle Mart. At pension time he was good for a small touch. He always planned to buy me a bicycle but never made it. Each time, after he blew in his pension with the comrades, he'd come home repentant and say next pension I'd get a bicycle.

I waited in vain. Then one time, just after the old fellow was broke again, he put his arm around me and drew me to his knee.

In quivering voice he said: "Honest, boy, I intended to get you a bicycle this time. I planned it ever since last pension." He choked and blubbered, "I can't help it, boy, honest I can't."

Though thrice disappointed, I understood. I've always understood Uncle Mart and everybody like him. Of course they can't help it.

THOUSANDS OF Uncle Marts came out of the Civil War. They moved out on their own into a wretched, unbolstered economy. They saved the Union, to be tossed into a carnival of bad habits and self-indulgence. They went back to impoverished farms and shattered homes. Shabby pensions came long after. No war bonus, teminal pay or colleges for them.

(Frank Tripp is going to stage a major summer loaf. There'll be no "guest columnists" and no alibis; it's just plain shiftlessness, Frank says. There is a new crop of readers since "the best of Tripp" was written. This is the first of a series of his earlier ones which are to appear—Editor.)

Removed From Boat In Middle of Hudson

Troy, July 5 (AP) — A Troy man was reported on his way to recovery from a virus infection at a hospital here, after he was removed from a boat in the middle of the Hudson river.

Robert Morrissey, 27, an oiler, became ill Saturday aboard the tug Margaret Matton. He was transferred to a cabin cruiser lashed to the side of the tug.

An Albany operator was called by ship-to-shore telephone. The operator notified state police who summoned the Greenport rescue squad. The squad obtained the cabin cruiser at Hudson.

The tug could not be stopped because it was towing an oil barge and because the tide was moving too fast.

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

Not pleasant reading — but we have some news from Uncle Sam's Department of Commerce, — that the total debt—private and Government—owed by Joe Doaks & Company, is estimated at $605 BILLION dollars. That's more than the value of all land and buildings in the nation as recently as 1951, But the fault does not rest with General Eisenhower.

Mr. Hutton

To the extent that prosperity is due to advancing science and technology, it is sound and good. It's plain, however, that a substantial part of our apparent "prosperity" is that of the Prodigal Son — who wasted his dad's inheritance. Read the Fifteenth Chapter of St. Luke.

The savings of 400 years have been mortgaged, and future earnings of years to come are in hock.

We are on dangerous ground. I am NOT predicting a depression. All during the political shenanigans last year, I said the "gloom and doom" labor boys were off base.

But even in good times for the nation as a whole, it's depression time for thousands of people. Some businesses fail every week of every year.

Debts are usually the cause of failures — whether, as a buyer, you get too deep in debt, or, as a seller, you extend too much credit. Then when sickness, adversity, job lay-offs (Perhaps Reuther has solved that problem) or crop failures strike, Mary and Joe Doaks lose their savings, their home—and often face grim old age.

Neighbor, "don't set your plow too deep," as Poor Richard said.

Another Lucky Escape

London, July 5 (AP)—Airline Capt. Cameron T. Walker, who landed a planeload of passengers safely last year despite a jammed nose wheel, seems to be making a habit of escapes from ticklish situations. This time it involved a poisonous snake. Walker, who hails from Massapequa, N. Y., killed the reptile with a jungle knife yesterday as it slithered across the forward luggage hold of his airliner toward the crowded passenger cabin. The incident occurred just before the New York-to-London Pan-American plane landed at Shannon, Ireland. The snake apparently had escaped from a crate containing 26 rattlesnakes, copperheads, coral snakes and some unidentified varieties being shipped to Duesseldorf, Germany. All of them were believed poisonous.

Most proteins contain about 10 per cent nitrogen.

Tells Police 2 Men Kidnap Wife in Car

Santa Monica, Calif., July 5 (AP)—A husband told police early today that two swarthy men slugged him and kidnapped his 21-year-old wife in the family car parked a half block from his home.

Police began a search for Mrs. Joni Mary Wilson.

Lt. Ed Hicks said her husband, John, a baker, related this sequence of events:

He and his wife, after watching fireworks at nearby Ocean Park, stopped the car en route home and Wilson went to a nearby liquor store to buy cigarettes.

When he returned one man was in the car beside his wife, another standing outside the car. Wilson said he ordered the man out of the car, only to be hit by the other man.

They then drove away with his wife.

Expelled Prelates Sail for Congress

Vatican City, July 5 (AP)—The Vatican secretary of state office said today that two Argentine prelates recently expelled by the Argentine government have "evidently really obtained permission to return home."

A spokesman said that no permission, however, had been relayed through the Vatican. Nor was there any immediate confirmation from President Juan Peron's government in Buenos Aires.

The prelates are Bishop Manuel Tato, whose expulsion on June 15 was quickly followed by excommunication of Peron and all others responsible, and his assistant, Msgr. Ramon Novoa.

They sailed yesterday from Genoa for the International Eucharistic Congress at Rio de Janiero, Brazil, July 17-24.

Just before sailing, Bishop Tato told the Genoa correspondent of Rome's Il Quotidiano, official organ of Italian Catholic action: "We are going to the Brazil Eucharistic Congress and then are sure to continue on to Buenos Aires."

HEALTH FOR ALL

SMARTER CHILDREN

Do Junior's questions about everything under the sun—and in the outer space, too—baffle you? Have you, secretly of course, asked the question, "Are the kids today smarter than in my day?"

There is some evidence that all those vitamins we take are increasing the intelligence of the younger generation, and making life tougher for parents. Recent experiments seem to show that extra vitamins taken by mothers during pregnancy and nursing may increase the I.Q. of their children. Some 2,400 expectant mothers took part in a test conducted by Teachers College, Columbia University. Some of the mothers got extra vitamin C, some got B vitamins, and others were given placebos or "duds" containing no vitamins.

At the age of four the children were tested by psychologists and all the "vitaminized" children surpassed the placebo group by an average of 5.2 in intelligence quotient.

The best response to vitamins was in city tenement families where the regular diet may have been below normal. So, the test doesn't prove conclusively that mothers who regularly get in their diets the recommended amount of vitamins can improve their children's I.Q. by taking extra vitamins. But it certainly shows how important a proper diet is to the expectant mother.

Maybe a mother can't guarantee a great brain for her child by getting plenty of vitamins during pregnancy and nursing. But there is much she can do to give him the best possible chance for a healthy, vigorous body and mind. The diet should include plenty of milk, citrus fruits, leafy green vegetables, protein rich foods such as meat and eggs, and whatever vitamin supplements the doctor recommends.

To solve the problem of Junior's bright questions? Better keep the encyclopedia handy.

This column is sponsored in the interest of better health by the Ulster County TB and Health Association, 74 John street.

Vegetable Record

Davis, Calif. (AP)—The super giant among California's agricultural giants is the vegetable industry. So says J. E. Knott, chairman of the Department of Vegetable Crops at the State Agricultural College. He said vegetable shipments in 1954 more than doubled the state's combined volume of grapes, citrus fruits, deciduous fruits, nuts, berries and miscellaneous fruits.

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

Not pleasant reading — but we have some news from Uncle Sam's Department of Commerce, — that the total debt—private and Government—owed by Joe Doaks & Company, is estimated at $605 BILLION dollars. That's more than the value of all land and buildings in the nation as recently as 1951, But the fault does not rest with General Eisenhower.

Mr. Hutton

To the extent that prosperity is due to advancing science and technology, it is sound and good. It's plain, however, that a substantial part of our apparent "prosperity" is that of the Prodigal Son — who wasted his dad's inheritance. Read the Fifteenth Chapter of St. Luke.

The savings of 400 years have been mortgaged, and future earnings of years to come are in hock.

We are on dangerous ground. I am NOT predicting a depression. All during the political shenanigans last year, I said the "gloom and doom" labor boys were off base.

But even in good times for the nation as a whole, it's depression time for thousands of people. Some businesses fail every week of every year.

Debts are usually the cause of failures — whether, as a buyer, you get too deep in debt, or, as a seller, you extend too much credit. Then when sickness, adversity, job lay-offs (Perhaps Reuther has solved that problem) or crop failures strike, Mary and Joe Doaks lose their savings, their home—and often face grim old age.

Neighbor, "don't set your plow too deep," as Poor Richard said.

Expelled Prelates Sail for Congress

Vatican City, July 5 (AP)—The Vatican secretary of state office said today that two Argentine prelates recently expelled by the Argentine government have "evidently really obtained permission to return home."

A spokesman said that no permission, however, had been relayed through the Vatican. Nor was there any immediate confirmation from President Juan Peron's government in Buenos Aires.

The prelates are Bishop Manuel Tato, whose expulsion on June 15 was quickly followed by excommunication of Peron and all others responsible, and his assistant, Msgr. Ramon Novoa.

They sailed yesterday from Genoa for the International Eucharistic Congress at Rio de Janiero, Brazil, July 17-24.

Just before sailing, Bishop Tato told the Genoa correspondent of Rome's Il Quotidiano, official organ of Italian Catholic action: "We are going to the Brazil Eucharistic Congress and then are sure to continue on to Buenos Aires."

Another Lucky Escape

London, July 5 (AP)—Airline Capt. Cameron T. Walker, who landed a planeload of passengers safely last year despite a jammed nose wheel, seems to be making a habit of escapes from ticklish situations. This time it involved a poisonous snake. Walker, who hails from Massapequa, N. Y., killed the reptile with a jungle knife yesterday as it slithered across the forward luggage hold of his airliner toward the crowded passenger cabin. The incident occurred just before the New York-to-London Pan-American plane landed at Shannon, Ireland. The snake apparently had escaped from a crate containing 26 rattlesnakes, copperheads, coral snakes and some unidentified varieties being shipped to Duesseldorf, Germany. All of them were believed poisonous.

Tells Police 2 Men Kidnap Wife in Car

Santa Monica, Calif., July 5 (AP)—A husband told police early today that two swarthy men slugged him and kidnapped his 21-year-old wife in the family car parked a half block from his home.

Police began a search for Mrs. Joni Mary Wilson.

Lt. Ed Hicks said her husband, John, a baker, related this sequence of events:

He and his wife, after watching fireworks at nearby Ocean Park, stopped the car en route home and Wilson went to a nearby liquor store to buy cigarettes.

When he returned one man was in the car beside his wife, another standing outside the car. Wilson said he ordered the man out of the car, only to be hit by the other man.

They then drove away with his wife.

HEALTH FOR ALL

SMARTER CHILDREN

Do Junior's questions about everything under the sun—and in the outer space, too—baffle you? Have you, secretly of course, asked the question, "Are the kids today smarter than in my day?"

There is some evidence that all those vitamins we take are increasing the intelligence of the younger generation, and making life tougher for parents. Recent experiments seem to show that extra vitamins taken by mothers during pregnancy and nursing may increase the I.Q. of their children. Some 2,400 expectant mothers took part in a test conducted by Teachers College, Columbia University. Some of the mothers got extra vitamin C, some got B vitamins, and others were given placebos or "duds" containing no vitamins.

At the age of four the children were tested by psychologists and all the "vitaminized" children surpassed the placebo group by an average of 5.2 in intelligence quotient.

The best response to vitamins was in city tenement families where the regular diet may have been below normal. So, the test doesn't prove conclusively that mothers who regularly get in their diets the recommended amount of vitamins can improve their children's I.Q. by taking extra vitamins. But it certainly shows how important a proper diet is to the expectant mother.

Maybe a mother can't guarantee a great brain for her child by getting plenty of vitamins during pregnancy and nursing. But there is much she can do to give him the best possible chance for a healthy, vigorous body and mind. The diet should include plenty of milk, citrus fruits, leafy green vegetables, protein rich foods such as meat and eggs, and whatever vitamin supplements the doctor recommends.

To solve the problem of Junior's bright questions? Better keep the encyclopedia handy.

Vegetable Record

Davis, Calif. (AP)—The super giant among California's agricultural giants is the vegetable industry. So says J. E. Knott, chairman of the Department of Vegetable Crops at the State Agricultural College. He said vegetable shipments in 1954 more than doubled the state's combined volume of grapes, citrus fruits, deciduous fruits, nuts, berries and miscellaneous fruits.

Charged with Forging Thruway Service Bills

Rochester, N. Y., July 5 (AP)—An automobile mechanic was held in Monroe County jail today on a charge of forging thruway service invoices.

Thruway state police said Leonard M. Albert, 26, of Retsof, had charged $5 apiece for about 25 thruway service calls and had changed the invoices to read $2, the maximum charge allowed.

Albert waived examination when arraigned before Peace Justice Harold Lane of Henrietta after his arrest Sunday. He was ordered held for grand jury action.

Lt. R. E. Sweeney of the thruway state police at Syracuse said 15 altered invoices were for services performed in Monroe county and 8 to 10 for services in Ontario county.

HE PAYS FOR BEING TOO GOOD—Patrolman Richard Kahl of Lombard, Ill., couldn't explain to the police chief why he gave parking meter tickets to motorists whose time had not run out. Then he found a boy, with a soft heart for car owners, dropping pennies into expired meters. Thomas Poncsko, 13, said he felt sorry for the ticketed motorists. Above, Kahl follows police magistrate's orders to punish Thomas by making him deposit into meters 200 pennies from his own allowance.

Policemen's Uniforms

2 July 1955

Editor, The Freeman:

It seems to me our friendly police officers should not have to suffer through another summer in their present uniforms. I am sure a uniform more suitable can be ordered at very little extra cost, which would allow the officer to perform his valuable services in comfort. I would suggest a short-sleeved light blue cotton shirt with open collar and a light weight navy blue pants.

I love the city of my birth, Kingston, and I know that we all want the best for our noteworthy public servants.

MRS. HARRIET KATATSKY

No Sympathy in Store

Fukuoka, Japan, July 5 (AP)—Ellis Euclid Lauhon Jr., a U. S. airman held in Galveston, Tex., on a triple murder charge, will get no sympathy from the 17-year-old girl he named as his Japanese wife. Taeko Suzuki, located here, denied today she had ever married him and quickly added: "I never want to see him again. I am now engaged to another man." Lauhon was picked up at Nogales, Mexico Friday, attempting to sell the car of Mrs. Ruby McPherson, 42. Mrs. McPherson, her mother and 12-year-old son were found dead in their Dickinson, Tex., home. Lauhon said he was trying to sail back to Taeko—for whom he professed great love—through a Mexican port.

As Pegler Sees It

Washington," I said, "given him by his gateful boys."

Mr. Gorman glanced a little way away at his car. "We have one Ford," he said.

Tate said I ought to stick around and learn something about Arkansas. I said I had been over at Hot Springs and Little Rock last December and wasn't as green as I might seem.

"Did you see Joe Moreschi in Hot Springs? He goes there a lot," said Mr. Tate. "You ought to go there and get that off," pointing at my middle, a foul blow in view of my mannerly restraint about that shiner of his.

Gorman said not more than 110 common laborers would be hired on the whole job. At a minimum that would be $3,850 in fees and dues for this union alone. But that view leaves out of the reckoning the kind of extortion that went on at Joppa. Ebasco finally threw up the contract there. The total size of it was $128,000,000. They were making four electric plants for the atomic project at Paducah and certain bosses of the operating engineers' hogged it so greedily that there was no discipline at all. Evan Dale, of the common laborers, a big boss with 40 business agents under him, finally got 15 years and a fine of $10,000 from Judge Fred L. Wham in the Federal Court in East St. Louis, who said he had never heard of such extortion. Dale had control of most of the labor pool and he had asked Ebasco for one per cent of the total price for "peace" on the job. That would have been $1,280,000 for Dale and whomsoever else, if anyone.

"We screen all our officials," Tate said. "All our officers are members of the Masonic Lodge." This was a new qualification for union office. But I let it lie. We were getting friendly. We three lined up beside the road and George Pierce of the Press-Scimitar, snapped the first group picture since the world began of two executives of Moreschi's union on smiling terms with Pegler.

There has been a tussle between two locals of the Common Laborers, No. 1328 in Jonesboro claiming jurisdiction over "Northeast Arkansas" and Gorman's Local 1441 of Memphis, with a rival claim. Gorman said Ivy Parks, of the Jonesboro local, showed no credentials. Parks later closed his field office at Hulbert, Ark., and went somewhere, but the fight is not settled. It may account for Tate's black eye.

The Little Arkansas towns, hit hard by the decline of cotton, want all the jobs they can nail down for their local people. Gorman says he has 650 Arkansas people in his Memphis council.

But the proposition that men should be able to work without permission from any union seems entirely lost to view in the Cotton Belt as it has been for 20 years in the slave states of the northern tier.

The buyer said he had lined up 44 tons of the fish eggs for his restaurant's better heeled clientele, 17 tons in Moscow and the rest in Iran. The price was not disclosed, but the stuff retails for $35 a pound in New York.

Albert waived examination when arraigned before Peace Justice Harold Lane of Henrietta after his arrest Sunday. He was ordered held for grand jury action.

Lt. R. E. Sweeney of the thruway state police at Syracuse said 15 altered invoices were for services performed in Monroe county and 8 to 10 for services in Ontario county.

HE PAYS FOR BEING TOO GOOD—Patrolman Richard Kahl of Lombard, Ill., couldn't explain to the police chief why he gave parking meter tickets to motorists whose time had not run out. Then he found a boy, with a soft heart for car owners, dropping pennies into expired meters. Thomas Poncsko, 13, said he felt sorry for the ticketed motorists. Above, Kahl follows police magistrate's orders to punish Thomas by making him deposit into meters 200 pennies from his own allowance.

Policemen's Uniforms

2 July 1955

Editor, The Freeman:

It seems to me our friendly police officers should not have to suffer through another summer in their present uniforms. I am sure a uniform more suitable can be ordered at very little extra cost, which would allow the officer to perform his valuable services in comfort. I would suggest a short-sleeved light blue cotton shirt with open collar and a light weight navy blue pants.

I love the city of my birth, Kingston, and I know that we all want the best for our noteworthy public servants.

MRS. HARRIET KATATSKY

No Sympathy in Store

Fukuoka, Japan, July 5 (AP)—Ellis Euclid Lauhon Jr., a U. S. airman held in Galveston, Tex., on a triple murder charge, will get no sympathy from the 17-year-old girl he named as his Japanese wife. Taeko Suzuki, located here, denied today she had ever married him and quickly added: "I never want to see him again. I am now engaged to another man." Lauhon was picked up at Nogales, Mexico Friday, attempting to sell the car of Mrs. Ruby McPherson, 42. Mrs. McPherson, her mother and 12-year-old son were found dead in their Dickinson, Tex., home. Lauhon said he was trying to sail back to Taeko—for whom he professed great love—through a Mexican port.

As Pegler Sees It

Washington," I said, "given him by his gateful boys."

Mr. Gorman glanced a little way away at his car. "We have one Ford," he said.

Tate said I ought to stick around and learn something about Arkansas. I said I had been over at Hot Springs and Little Rock last December and wasn't as green as I might seem.

"Did you see Joe Moreschi in Hot Springs? He goes there a lot," said Mr. Tate. "You ought to go there and get that off," pointing at my middle, a foul blow in view of my mannerly restraint about that shiner of his.

Gorman said not more than 110 common laborers would be hired on the whole job. At a minimum that would be $3,850 in fees and dues for this union alone. But that view leaves out of the reckoning the kind of extortion that went on at Joppa. Ebasco finally threw up the contract there. The total size of it was $128,000,000. They were making four electric plants for the atomic project at Paducah and certain bosses of the operating engineers' hogged it so greedily that there was no discipline at all. Evan Dale, of the common laborers, a big boss with 40 business agents under him, finally got 15 years and a fine of $10,000 from Judge Fred L. Wham in the Federal Court in East St. Louis, who said he had never heard of such extortion. Dale had control of most of the labor pool and he had asked Ebasco for one per cent of the total price for "peace" on the job. That would have been $1,280,000 for Dale and whomsoever else, if anyone.

"We screen all our officials," Tate said. "All our officers are members of the Masonic Lodge." This was a new qualification for union office. But I let it lie. We were getting friendly. We three lined up beside the road and George Pierce of the Press-Scimitar, snapped the first group picture since the world began of two executives of Moreschi's union on smiling terms with Pegler.

There has been a tussle between two locals of the Common Laborers, No. 1328 in Jonesboro claiming jurisdiction over "Northeast Arkansas" and Gorman's Local 1441 of Memphis, with a rival claim. Gorman said Ivy Parks, of the Jonesboro local, showed no credentials. Parks later closed his field office at Hulbert, Ark., and went somewhere, but the fight is not settled. It may account for Tate's black eye.

The Little Arkansas towns, hit hard by the decline of cotton, want all the jobs they can nail down for their local people. Gorman says he has 650 Arkansas people in his Memphis council.

But the proposition that men should be able to work without permission from any union seems entirely lost to view in the Cotton Belt as it has been for 20 years in the slave states of the northern tier.

Russian Invited to Club

Moscow, July 5 (AP) — New York's ultra-capitalist Twenty One Club has invited an ultra-Communist to drop around for a meal. A caviar buyer for the swanky 52nd street eatery, Malcolm Beyer, said he extended the invitation to Soviet Deputy Premier A. I. Mikoyan at the American Embassy's July 4th reception yesterday. The American reported that Mikoyan, who has visited the United States before, replied he'd be around the next time he is in New York. The buyer said he had lined up 44 tons of the fish eggs for his restaurant's better heeled clientele, 17 tons in Moscow and the rest in Iran. The price was not disclosed, but the stuff retails for $35 a pound in New York.

C of C Suggestions On Solicitations And Promotions

An unusually large number of complaints and inquiries have been received at the office of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce recently about various promotions and solicitations now active locally.

In commenting on the complaints today, Albert Kurdt, manager of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce stated, "It is very unfortunate that the high pressure, unethical sales and solicitation efforts, make legitimate promotions and sales efforts more difficult."

"THE COMPLAINTS received vary widely and include; requests for advance payments or deposits of several kinds, receipt of unordered merchandise, high paying home employment, solicitations for cash contributions, offers to 'permalize' various items and sales at discounts to a 'selected' few," Kurdt continued, and said, "The Chamber of Commerce has no desire to interfere with legitimate and necessary sales efforts but desires to repeat the previous warnings about some sales and promotional schemes."

The Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce is a member of the National Better Business Bureau and has an extensive file of reports on several hundred schemes to defraud the public, some of which ended by the promoters going to jail or being fined after being found guilty in the courts.

The Chamber of Commerce can only make suggestions for the guidance of the public. Some of them are: Ask for the names and addresses of others who have profited by the same promotion, be sure the firm represented is reliable and get the names and addresses of satisfied customers, be sure any verbal promises are part of any written contract, read the entire contract carefully and be sure you understand what you are signing before you sign, and do not be fooled by veiled promises of discounts or high profits.

TV Director to Tell All About Red Ties

Burlington, Vt., July 5 (AP)—Charles Lewis, 47, public affairs director of WCAX-TV, says he is one of 23 former newsmen named before the internal security subcommittee as a member or former member of the Communist party.

In his disclosure yesterday, Lewis said he "joined the party in 1937 and quit two or three months later because I had my nose full."

He added: "I have volunteered to appear before the (Senate Internal Security) Committee and I'll tell everything I know."

Lewis was one of those named by Winston Burdett as a member of the Brooklyn Eagle Communist cell in 1937. Burdett testified last Wednesday before the Senate committee.

C. P. Hasbrook, president of WCAX-TV, said Lewis volunteered the information about himself as soon as Burdett's testimony was published.

Hasbrook said Lewis has been granted a leave of absence with pay to enable him to go to Washington to testify before the committee.

Lewis at one time was radio chief of the U. S. Office of Military Government in Germany and founder of "radio in American sector of Berlin," an anti-Communist radio station.

AMERICAN MENU

Europeans' Breadbasket Is Striking Idea for Picnic

MID-EUROPEAN PICNIC includes rye bread, liverwurst, dill pickles and beer. Sandwiches are kept fresh in own breadbasket.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Ever go on a picnic in Germany or Denmark? Can be fun. You usually ride out into the country on a bicycle with several friends. You most certainly will all sing together as you travel further from the city.

The food is apt to be packed in a wicker basket or a "rucksack," the canvas bag with straps which is worn over the shoulders. When you stop to eat, everything will taste good even though, except for sausages and beer, there won't be the variety of foods we take along in the U.S.A.

Rye bread will be the standby. It will be fragrant and fresh. But as paper and foil is scarce in many European countries, you often find the sandwiches kept fresh in their own breadbasket. That breadbasket idea is adaptable for picnics anywhere. Might be fun to try on your 4th of July picnic.

Breadbasket Sandwiches

Select a large, round loaf of rye bread. Using a long, sharp knife, slice the top off the loaf and set it aside for later use as the cover. Next, loosen the bread from the side crust by cutting around the loaf directly downward to the bottom crust. Then, make a slit just above the bottom crust, insert the knife and swing it back and forth in a wide arc to separate the bread from the bottom crust. Lift out the bread and cut it into 5 or 6 wedges, then cut each wedge into 4 to 6 slices, depending upon the softness of the bread. Spread each slice with softened butter and liverwurst, reassembling each wedge. Pack the tiered sandwiches in the breadbasket, replace the cover and refrigerate until time to serve.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Broiled or sauteed liver and bacon, new potatoes, broiled tomato halves, enriched bread, butter or margarine, scallions and radishes, blackberry roll, ice cream sauce, coffee, tea, milk.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

No doubt it will be another quarter of a century before the New York State Firemen's Convention will be held here. The following was taken from the Kingston Argus newspaper of Wednesday, August 22, 1883. "The State Firemen's Annual Convention and parade is over and those interested in its management are satisfied that Kingston's hospitality and executive talent has been fully equal to the occasion, and that in every respect it passed off satisfactorily in all its elaborate details." The 15,000 or 20,000 people present at the gala convention tremendously enjoyed the procession of some two miles in length. It is said that some 1,000 railroad tickets were sold in Saugerties, and about 500 at the railroad ticket office in Rosendale and other communities.

The line of march back in 1883 started from the City Hall down Union avenue, (Broadway now) to Delaware avenue, thence to Hasbrouck avenue, down Hasbrouck avenue to The Strand, thence through The Strand to Union avenue, from Union avenue to Abeel street, from Abeel street to Wurts street, up Wurts to Holmes street, (now McEntee street) then on Holmes street to Union avenue, up Union avenue as far as Bowery, (Bowery now Franklin street), up Bowery to Fair street, from Fair street to Main street, up Main street to Wall street to North Front street, and from there to Clinton avenue, from Clinton avenue down Union avenue back to the City Hall where the parade was dismissed. That must have been some hike on a hot day in August, 1883.

In this same paper of 1883 they tell about the local police being busy with the affairs of the parade thus making it a holiday also for pickpockets. For instance, Wm. B. Fitch stepped off a West Shore train at the Junction and a very valuable gold watch, set with diamonds, was taken in the crowd. A Mr. Deyo, of New Paltz, lost a $250 gold watch while standing at one of the refreshment booths on Union avenue during the parade. One hard-working man from Saugerties had his pocket picked of $40 on the West Shore road. Numerous empty wallets and ladies handbags were found where the crowds were assembled to see the fireworks and parade. Some of them contained papers indicating an ownership in nearby communities. It seems, a gang of some half a dozen strangers would make a rush for the West Shore passengers as they stepped off the trains, by jostling rudely against them, while their co-workers artistically lifted watches and other valuables from unguarded pockets. As far as I know pickpockets are of the past in these parts.

Another ceremony which took place at the Firemen's Convention of 1883 was the unveiling of a monument to the memory of the deceased, Chief George Weber, of the Kingston Fire Department, which took place at Montrepose Cemetery. The monument cost $800 and was designed and cut by Mr. Vredenburgh of Kingston. The statue is of Rutland statuary and the base of Sutherland Falls marble. I have admired this monument in Montrepose Cemetery and this is the first time I ran across any history of it.

Birds Come Back

Key West, Fla. (AP)—Like the swallows at Capistrano, but with less romance, the sooty terns always come back to Bush Key. An estimated 711,000 of the ugly, black and white sea birds swarm down on the scrubby little island at the western end of the Florida Keys and raise families. With them come a sprinkling of Noddy and Roseate terns to what is believed their northernmost nesting ground. Bird men believe the sooties stay in the air almost continuously during the six months they are gone from Bush Key. Joseph C. Moore, bird biologist for the federal government who counts the terns each year, is often attacked by the quarrelsome birds as he goes about his work. One tern, he said, nests in the same spot year after year and for the last three years has pecked him as he came near to take the census.

Circumstantial Evidence

Owensboro, Ky. (AP)—Police Lt. Owen Bradley had proof that the absent owner of a parked car had slugged the meter. He waited for the owner to return, then gave him a citation. The proof? The meter's coin box didn't have a cent—nothing but four slugs.

Boy Scout News

BOY SCOUT TROOP 26, sponsored by the Port Ewen Reformed Church, held a Scouting in Action camp out June 25 and 26 at Ross Memorial Park under the leadership of Scoutmaster Robert Freer, Assistant Scoutmasters Leonard Miller and Donald Tinnie, and assisted by members of the Troop Committee, Martin Nilan, Darrel Meyers, and Daniel Terpening.

The following scouts were present: Senior Patrol Leader George Matthews, Scouts John Dailey, Dan Terpening, Roland Craig, Darrel Meyers, Don Tinnie, Ralph Hutton, Eugene Nilan and Vincent Beaver.

Saturday evening camp was set up and an evening camp fire was enjoyed by the Scouts. Sunday morning, following preparation of breakfast by the scouts, the members of the troop attended the church of their choice. At noon the scouts were joined by their parents and families for a picnic lunch.

Mothers pins representative of ranks in Scouting earned by the scouts during the past year were presented to the boys' mothers. The following boys received mothers' pins to pin on their mothers: Tenderfoot, Tommy Steigerwald, Eugene Nilan, Vincent Beaver; Second Class: John Dailey, Dan Terpening, Roland Craig, Darrel Meyers, Don Tinnie, Ralph Hutton; First Class: George Mathews.

Following this presentation made by Gordon Craig, Neighbor Commissioner, the boys struck camp and attended the Preparedness Day Program at Dietz Memorial Stadium in Kingston.

Future plans call for more family get-togethers and the troop wishes to remind all that they are a part of the Kingston District of the Rip Van Winkle Council B.S.A. and requests support of the coming Red Feather (Kingston Area Community Chest) Campaign. If you help the Red Feather you are helping the Boy Scouts and Troop No. 26.

Troop 26 will meet at the Boy Scout room in the Reformed Church on Tuesday at 7 p. m., with Robert Freer, scoutmaster and Leonard Miller and Donald Tinnie, Sr., assistant scout leaders. Scouts are asked to note the change of time for this meeting.

Real Adoption

Burlington, N. C. (AP)—When Bill Albright brought home a baby squirrel which had tumbled from its nest in a tree, the new pet stirred the motherly instinct of Brownit, the family's fox terrier. The dog not only adopted the squirrel as her own but even changed her diet for her new child, developing a taste for the shelled corn fed the squirrel.

An unusually large number of complaints and inquiries have been received at the office of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce recently about various promotions and solicitations now active locally.

In commenting on the complaints today, Albert Kurdt, manager of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce stated, "It is very unfortunate that the high pressure, unethical sales and solicitation efforts, make legitimate promotions and sales efforts more difficult."

"THE COMPLAINTS received vary widely and include; requests for advance payments or deposits of several kinds, receipt of unordered merchandise, high paying home employment, solicitations for cash contributions, offers to 'permalize' various items and sales at discounts to a 'selected' few," Kurdt continued, and said, "The Chamber of Commerce has no desire to interfere with legitimate and necessary sales efforts but desires to repeat the previous warnings about some sales and promotional schemes."

The Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce is a member of the National Better Business Bureau and has an extensive file of reports on several hundred schemes to defraud the public, some of which ended by the promoters going to jail or being fined after being found guilty in the courts.

The Chamber of Commerce can only make suggestions for the guidance of the public. Some of them are: Ask for the names and addresses of others who have profited by the same promotion, be sure the firm represented is reliable and get the names and addresses of satisfied customers, be sure any verbal promises are part of any written contract, read the entire contract carefully and be sure you understand what you are signing before you sign, and do not be fooled by veiled promises of discounts or high profits.

TV Director to Tell All About Red Ties

Burlington, Vt., July 5 (AP)—Charles Lewis, 47, public affairs director of WCAX-TV, says he is one of 23 former newsmen named before the internal security subcommittee as a member or former member of the Communist party.

In his disclosure yesterday, Lewis said he "joined the party in 1937 and quit two or three months later because I had my nose full."

He added: "I have volunteered to appear before the (Senate Internal Security) Committee and I'll tell everything I know."

Lewis was one of those named by Winston Burdett as a member of the Brooklyn Eagle Communist cell in 1937. Burdett testified last Wednesday before the Senate committee.

C. P. Hasbrook, president of WCAX-TV, said Lewis volunteered the information about himself as soon as Burdett's testimony was published.

Hasbrook said Lewis has been granted a leave of absence with pay to enable him to go to Washington to testify before the committee.

Lewis at one time was radio chief of the U. S. Office of Military Government in Germany and founder of "radio in American sector of Berlin," an anti-Communist radio station.

AMERICAN MENU

Europeans' Breadbasket Is Striking Idea for Picnic

MID-EUROPEAN PICNIC includes rye bread, liverwurst, dill pickles and beer. Sandwiches are kept fresh in own breadbasket.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Ever go on a picnic in Germany or Denmark? Can be fun. You usually ride out into the country on a bicycle with several friends. You most certainly will all sing together as you travel further from the city.

The food is apt to be packed in a wicker basket or a "rucksack," the canvas bag with straps which is worn over the shoulders. When you stop to eat, everything will taste good even though, except for sausages and beer, there won't be the variety of foods we take along in the U.S.A.

Rye bread will be the standby. It will be fragrant and fresh. But as paper and foil is scarce in many European countries, you often find the sandwiches kept fresh in their own breadbasket. That breadbasket idea is adaptable for picnics anywhere. Might be fun to try on your 4th of July picnic.

Breadbasket Sandwiches

Select a large, round loaf of rye bread. Using a long, sharp knife, slice the top off the loaf and set it aside for later use as the cover. Next, loosen the bread from the side crust by cutting around the loaf directly downward to the bottom crust. Then, make a slit just above the bottom crust, insert the knife and swing it back and forth in a wide arc to separate the bread from the bottom crust. Lift out the bread and cut it into 5 or 6 wedges, then cut each wedge into 4 to 6 slices, depending upon the softness of the bread. Spread each slice with softened butter and liverwurst, reassembling each wedge. Pack the tiered sandwiches in the breadbasket, replace the cover and refrigerate until time to serve.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Broiled or sauteed liver and bacon, new potatoes, broiled tomato halves, enriched bread, butter or margarine, scallions and radishes, blackberry roll, ice cream sauce, coffee, tea, milk.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

No doubt it will be another quarter of a century before the New York State Firemen's Convention will be held here. The following was taken from the Kingston Argus newspaper of Wednesday, August 22, 1883. "The State Firemen's Annual Convention and parade is over and those interested in its management are satisfied that Kingston's hospitality and executive talent has been fully equal to the occasion, and that in every respect it passed off satisfactorily in all its elaborate details." The 15,000 or 20,000 people present at the gala convention tremendously enjoyed the procession of some two miles in length. It is said that some 1,000 railroad tickets were sold in Saugerties, and about 500 at the railroad ticket office in Rosendale and other communities.

The line of march back in 1883 started from the City Hall down Union avenue, (Broadway now) to Delaware avenue, thence to Hasbrouck avenue, down Hasbrouck avenue to The Strand, thence through The Strand to Union avenue, from Union avenue to Abeel street, from Abeel street to Wurts street, up Wurts to Holmes street, (now McEntee street) then on Holmes street to Union avenue, up Union avenue as far as Bowery, (Bowery now Franklin street), up Bowery to Fair street, from Fair street to Main street, up Main street to Wall street to North Front street, and from there to Clinton avenue, from Clinton avenue down Union avenue back to the City Hall where the parade was dismissed. That must have been some hike on a hot day in August, 1883.

In this same paper of 1883 they tell about the local police being busy with the affairs of the parade thus making it a holiday also for pickpockets. For instance, Wm. B. Fitch stepped off a West Shore train at the Junction and a very valuable gold watch, set with diamonds, was taken in the crowd. A Mr. Deyo, of New Paltz, lost a $250 gold watch while standing at one of the refreshment booths on Union avenue during the parade. One hard-working man from Saugerties had his pocket picked of $40 on the West Shore road. Numerous empty wallets and ladies handbags were found where the crowds were assembled to see the fireworks and parade. Some of them contained papers indicating an ownership in nearby communities. It seems, a gang of some half a dozen strangers would make a rush for the West Shore passengers as they stepped off the trains, by jostling rudely against them, while their co-workers artistically lifted watches and other valuables from unguarded pockets. As far as I know pickpockets are of the past in these parts.

Another ceremony which took place at the Firemen's Convention of 1883 was the unveiling of a monument to the memory of the deceased, Chief George Weber, of the Kingston Fire Department, which took place at Montrepose Cemetery. The monument cost $800 and was designed and cut by Mr. Vredenburgh of Kingston. The statue is of Rutland statuary and the base of Sutherland Falls marble. I have admired this monument in Montrepose Cemetery and this is the first time I ran across any history of it.

Birds Come Back

Key West, Fla. (AP)—Like the swallows at Capistrano, but with less romance, the sooty terns always come back to Bush Key. An estimated 711,000 of the ugly, black and white sea birds swarm down on the scrubby little island at the western end of the Florida Keys and raise families. With them come a sprinkling of Noddy and Roseate terns to what is believed their northernmost nesting ground. Bird men believe the sooties stay in the air almost continuously during the six months they are gone from Bush Key. Joseph C. Moore, bird biologist for the federal government who counts the terns each year, is often attacked by the quarrelsome birds as he goes about his work. One tern, he said, nests in the same spot year after year and for the last three years has pecked him as he came near to take the census.

Circumstantial Evidence

Owensboro, Ky. (AP)—Police Lt. Owen Bradley had proof that the absent owner of a parked car had slugged the meter. He waited for the owner to return, then gave him a citation. The proof? The meter's coin box didn't have a cent—nothing but four slugs.

Boy Scout News

BOY SCOUT TROOP 26, sponsored by the Port Ewen Reformed Church, held a Scouting in Action camp out June 25 and 26 at Ross Memorial Park under the leadership of Scoutmaster Robert Freer, Assistant Scoutmasters Leonard Miller and Donald Tinnie, and assisted by members of the Troop Committee, Martin Nilan, Darrel Meyers, and Daniel Terpening.

The following scouts were present: Senior Patrol Leader George Matthews, Scouts John Dailey, Dan Terpening, Roland Craig, Darrel Meyers, Don Tinnie, Ralph Hutton, Eugene Nilan and Vincent Beaver.

Saturday evening camp was set up and an evening camp fire was enjoyed by the Scouts. Sunday morning, following preparation of breakfast by the scouts, the members of the troop attended the church of their choice. At noon the scouts were joined by their parents and families for a picnic lunch.

Mothers pins representative of ranks in Scouting earned by the scouts during the past year were presented to the boys' mothers. The following boys received mothers' pins to pin on their mothers: Tenderfoot, Tommy Steigerwald, Eugene Nilan, Vincent Beaver; Second Class: John Dailey, Dan Terpening, Roland Craig, Darrel Meyers, Don Tinnie, Ralph Hutton; First Class: George Mathews.

Following this presentation made by Gordon Craig, Neighbor Commissioner, the boys struck camp and attended the Preparedness Day Program at Dietz Memorial Stadium in Kingston.

Future plans call for more family get-togethers and the troop wishes to remind all that they are a part of the Kingston District of the Rip Van Winkle Council B.S.A. and requests support of the coming Red Feather (Kingston Area Community Chest) Campaign. If you help the Red Feather you are helping the Boy Scouts and Troop No. 26.

Troop 26 will meet at the Boy Scout room in the Reformed Church on Tuesday at 7 p. m., with Robert Freer, scoutmaster and Leonard Miller and Donald Tinnie, Sr., assistant scout leaders. Scouts are asked to note the change of time for this meeting.

Real Adoption

Burlington, N. C. (AP)—When Bill Albright brought home a baby squirrel which had tumbled from its nest in a tree, the new pet stirred the motherly instinct of Brownit, the family's fox terrier. The dog not only adopted the squirrel as her own but even changed her diet for her new child, developing a taste for the shelled corn fed the squirrel.

SPEEDING THE PARTING GUEST

The following letter describes a bad habit that is typical of many visitors: "Is there nothing a hostess can do to speed a departing guest who, after she says she must go, proceeds to stand in the doorway for another twenty minutes rehashing or adding to the evening's conversation? So many women have this habit and to me it is most exhausting to have to stand this length of time. I don't see why, when a visitor says she must go, she just doesn't go. I think a discussion of this in your column will help many hostesses who are confronted with this same problem."

I am in complete sympathy with you on this subject, and the only suggestion I have to offer is to find some excuse for leaving her, such as "I must go, the baby is in the living room alone and there's no telling what she might do," or "I have a cake in the oven that I have to look at." If you live in a building that has an elevator, when you walk out to the door with her, ring for the elevator and when it arrives, say., "Here's the elevator, goodbye!"

A Golden Anniversary Present

Dear Mrs. Post: My parents-in-law will soon celebrate their golden wedding anniversary at a large reception. My mother has been invited to this reception and wants to give them a present. However, they have everything for the house and she thought of giving a gold Rosary to my mother-in-law, but this of course would be for her alone. Is it necessary that a present be given to my father-in-law too?

Answer: Such a lovely present to her would be sufficient.

When should a gentleman offer his arm to the lady with him? This and many other manners in public are explained by Mrs. Post in leaflet E-15. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Uta Hagen Stars In Summer Tryout Of French Farce

One of the stars of Broadway is appearing at the Hyde Park Playhouse this week through Sunday night. Miss Uta Hagen, who has been called "the greatest classical actress on the American stage," is starring there in a pre-Broadway tryout of the newly translated French farce, "Cyprienne."

Miss Hagen achieved stardom with her performance of Desdemona in the Margaret Webster production of "Othello" a few years ago. Since then, each new role has added to the lustre of her name. The Theatre Guild revived Bernard Shaw's "St. Joan" just for her to star in it. When she played Blanche in "Streetcar Named Desire" even more laurels were added to her collection. In 1950-51 the New York drama critics voted her "the best actress of the year" for her performance in the title role of "The Country Girl." That year, she also won the Antoinette Perry Award—(The theatre's "Oscar") — and the Donaldson Award for the best performance, for that same role.

In "Cyprienne", Miss Hagen changes her pace to play low-comedy. The play is set in the gay 90's of France and is a satire of the era's fashionable group.

Miss Hagen will be co-starred by her equally noted husband in real life, Herbert Berghof. The show is slated for fall production in New York.

SAVING GRACE—That's not a pack of cigarets the comely model is holding in her left hand. It's a life preserver, like the one in her right hand. The new 3½-inch by 2¼-inch lifesaver was recently demonstrated in Chicago. A squeeze breaks a carbon dioxide cartridge, which inflates a pair of two-foot wide plastic water wings. It is said it will support a 250-pound person in the water for more than 24 hours.

SPEEDING THE PARTING GUEST

The following letter describes a bad habit that is typical of many visitors: "Is there nothing a hostess can do to speed a departing guest who, after she says she must go, proceeds to stand in the doorway for another twenty minutes rehashing or adding to the evening's conversation? So many women have this habit and to me it is most exhausting to have to stand this length of time. I don't see why, when a visitor says she must go, she just doesn't go. I think a discussion of this in your column will help many hostesses who are confronted with this same problem."

I am in complete sympathy with you on this subject, and the only suggestion I have to offer is to find some excuse for leaving her, such as "I must go, the baby is in the living room alone and there's no telling what she might do," or "I have a cake in the oven that I have to look at." If you live in a building that has an elevator, when you walk out to the door with her, ring for the elevator and when it arrives, say, "Here's the elevator, goodbye!"

A Golden Anniversary Present

Dear Mrs. Post: My parents-in-law will soon celebrate their golden wedding anniversary at a large reception. My mother has been invited to this reception and wants to give them a present. However, they have everything for the house and she thought of giving a gold Rosary to my mother-in-law, but this of course would be for her alone. Is it necessary that a present be given to my father-in-law too?

Answer: Such a lovely present to her would be sufficient.

Uta Hagen Stars In Summer Tryout Of French Farce

One of the stars of Broadway is appearing at the Hyde Park Playhouse this week through Sunday night. Miss Uta Hagen, who has been called "the greatest classical actress on the American stage," is starring there in a pre-Broadway tryout of the newly translated French farce, "Cyprienne."

Miss Hagen achieved stardom with her performance of Desdemona in the Margaret Webster production of "Othello" a few years ago. Since then, each new role has added to the lustre of her name. The Theatre Guild revived Bernard Shaw's "St. Joan" just for her to star in it. When she played Blanche in "Streetcar Named Desire" even more laurels were added to her collection. In 1950-51 the New York drama critics voted her "the best actress of the year" for her performance in the title role of "The Country Girl." That year, she also won the Antoinette Perry Award—(The theatre's "Oscar") — and the Donaldson Award for the best performance, for that same role.

In "Cyprienne", Miss Hagen changes her pace to play low-comedy. The play is set in the gay 90's of France and is a satire of the era's fashionable group.

Miss Hagen will be co-starred by her equally noted husband in real life, Herbert Berghof. The show is slated for fall production in New York.

SAVING GRACE—That's not a pack of cigarets the comely model is holding in her left hand. It's a life preserver, like the one in her right hand. The new 3½-inch by 2¼-inch lifesaver was recently demonstrated in Chicago. A squeeze breaks a carbon dioxide cartridge, which inflates a pair of two-foot wide plastic water wings. It is said it will support a 250-pound person in the water for more than 24 hours.

Fire Encircles Village

Clarke City, Que., July 5 (AP)—A forest fire has encircled the village of St. Margaret, four miles west of Clarke City and is threatening this town of 800 persons. The flames, sparked by lightning and fanned by south winds, were out of control early today only a half mile from Clarke City. They have burned through an area of nearly 10 square miles. Some 200 women and children have been evacuated from both communities by cars, trucks and buses to nearby Sept-iles, 350 miles from Quebec City on the north shore of the St. Lawrence river.

Saugerties Host To Thousands at All-Day Program

Saugerties, July 5 — Many thousands of residents, area neighbors and vacationists lined the streets of Saugerties to see the spectacle of the annual Fourth of July parade—one of the largest in recent years.

The parade consisting of five divisions each featuring an outstanding musical marching unit displayed 13 floats many of which were of such excellent quality that judging for the first three was difficult.

First place for the best float was awarded to the Auxiliary of the Lamouree-Hackett Post 72, American Legion, which portrayed a Hawaiian theme with many flowered designs entitled, the 49th State.

In a tie for second place was the Asbury Grange float entitled One Flag Under God and the float of Atonement Lutheran Church Sunday school which was named God's Promise of the Seasons.

In tie for third place was the float of the Saugerties Memorial Post 5034, VFW and Auxiliary entitled I Pledge Allegiance and the Centerville Fire Company Auxiliary which featured the Spirit of "76."

The five musical units included the Father Harty Drum Corps, Saugerties Drum Corps, Glasco Community Band, Boy Scout Band of Troop and Post 12, Kingston and Catskill Drum Corp.

Officials for the judging of the floats included Mrs. Robert Atkinson, Kingston; Anthony Erena, Kingston; August Herman, Long Island and Robert Wheeler, Poughkeepsie.

The parade ended at the Saugerties High School grounds where Fourth of July ceremonies were held with Louis G. Bruhn, former district attorney of Ulster county delivering the principal address.

The Rev. Theodore E. Hammer, pastor of Atonement Lutheran Church, offered the invocation and benediction; Robert Wolven, Boy Scout of Troop 39, Lynch Fire Company led the Pledge of Allegiance. Mrs. Marzell Roming, general chairman of the Fourth of July celebration committee served as master of ceremonies following an introduction by Co-chairman Mrs. Hazel Drewes.

Transit Strike Ties Up Buffalo Travel

Buffalo, N. Y., July 5 (AP)—Thousands of workers attempted to get to their jobs today after the long holiday weekend without the use of Niagara Frontier Transit Co. buses that normally serve 200,000 commuters daily.

A strike of 1,650 NFT employes entered its fifth day with little possibility of a settlement being reached before 2 p. m. today when company and union negotiations resume talks for the first time in a week.

Special police details directed traffic as job-bound residents drove their automobiles to the city, where parking restrictions had been eased to prepare for the influx. Taxi companies were jammed with orders. Those who could just walked to work.

The transit company serves Buffalo, Niagara Falls and several suburbs, a population area of one million.

It was struck early Friday morning in a contract dispute over wages and other benefits.

Father and Son Killed When Hit By Speeding Car

Croton Falls, July 5 (AP) — A Queens father and his son were killed early today when a speeding car rammed into them from the rear and threw their car off the road.

State police set up road blocks in a search for two youths they believed fled into the woods from the speeding car.

The dead were identified as Reginald Mehling of (104-17 34th street) Richmond Hill, who died at the scene, and his son, Robert, 19, who died at Northern Westchester Hospital, Mt. Kisco, four hours after the crash.

Police said they believed the speeding car was stolen from a used car lot in Wingdale, Dutchess county. Two state troopers gave chase when they saw it speeding south on Route 22.

Near the intersection of Route 100, near here, the speeding car crashed into Mehling's car, which ran off the road and smashed into a tree at 3 a. m.

In the darkness police said they saw two persons flee into the woods from the car which had been speeding. Twenty-five state troopers set up road blocks in the area and took bloodhounds to the scene to aid in the search.

Fire Encircles Village

Clarke City, Que., July 5 (AP)—A forest fire has encircled the village of St. Margaret, four miles west of Clarke City and is threatening this town of 800 persons. The flames, sparked by lightning and fanned by south winds, were out of control early today only a half mile from Clarke City. They have burned through an area of nearly 10 square miles. Some 200 women and children have been evacuated from both communities by cars, trucks and buses to nearby Sept-iles, 350 miles from Quebec City on the north shore of the St. Lawrence river.

Saugerties Host To Thousands at All-Day Program

Saugerties, July 5 — Many thousands of residents, area neighbors and vacationists lined the streets of Saugerties to see the spectacle of the annual Fourth of July parade—one of the largest in recent years.

The parade consisting of five divisions each featuring an outstanding musical marching unit displayed 13 floats many of which were of such excellent quality that judging for the first three was difficult.

First place for the best float was awarded to the Auxiliary of the Lamouree-Hackett Post 72, American Legion, which portrayed a Hawaiian theme with many flowered designs entitled, the 49th State.

In a tie for second place was the Asbury Grange float entitled One Flag Under God and the float of Atonement Lutheran Church Sunday school which was named God's Promise of the Seasons.

In tie for third place was the float of the Saugerties Memorial Post 5034, VFW and Auxiliary entitled I Pledge Allegiance and the Centerville Fire Company Auxiliary which featured the Spirit of "76."

The five musical units included the Father Harty Drum Corps, Saugerties Drum Corps, Glasco Community Band, Boy Scout Band of Troop and Post 12, Kingston and Catskill Drum Corp.

Officials for the judging of the floats included Mrs. Robert Atkinson, Kingston; Anthony Erena, Kingston; August Herman, Long Island and Robert Wheeler, Poughkeepsie.

The parade ended at the Saugerties High School grounds where Fourth of July ceremonies were held with Louis G. Bruhn, former district attorney of Ulster county delivering the principal address.

The Rev. Theodore E. Hammer, pastor of Atonement Lutheran Church, offered the invocation and benediction; Robert Wolven, Boy Scout of Troop 39, Lynch Fire Company led the Pledge of Allegiance. Mrs. Marzell Roming, general chairman of the Fourth of July celebration committee served as master of ceremonies following an introduction by Co-chairman Mrs. Hazel Drewes.

Transit Strike Ties Up Buffalo Travel

Buffalo, N. Y., July 5 (AP)—Thousands of workers attempted to get to their jobs today after the long holiday weekend without the use of Niagara Frontier Transit Co. buses that normally serve 200,000 commuters daily.

A strike of 1,650 NFT employes entered its fifth day with little possibility of a settlement being reached before 2 p. m. today when company and union negotiations resume talks for the first time in a week.

Special police details directed traffic as job-bound residents drove their automobiles to the city, where parking restrictions had been eased to prepare for the influx. Taxi companies were jammed with orders. Those who could just walked to work.

The transit company serves Buffalo, Niagara Falls and several suburbs, a population area of one million.

It was struck early Friday morning in a contract dispute over wages and other benefits.

Father and Son Killed When Hit By Speeding Car

Croton Falls, July 5 (AP) — A Queens father and his son were killed early today when a speeding car rammed into them from the rear and threw their car off the road.

State police set up road blocks in a search for two youths they believed fled into the woods from the speeding car.

The dead were identified as Reginald Mehling of (104-17 34th street) Richmond Hill, who died at the scene, and his son, Robert, 19, who died at Northern Westchester Hospital, Mt. Kisco, four hours after the crash.

Police said they believed the speeding car was stolen from a used car lot in Wingdale, Dutchess county. Two state troopers gave chase when they saw it speeding south on Route 22.

Near the intersection of Route 100, near here, the speeding car crashed into Mehling's car, which ran off the road and smashed into a tree at 3 a. m.

In the darkness police said they saw two persons flee into the woods from the car which had been speeding. Twenty-five state troopers set up road blocks in the area and took bloodhounds to the scene to aid in the search.

Pick of Stage Fare

New York, July 5 (AP)—A poll of theatre people from stage hands to producers has ranked Tennessee Williams' "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" as the best play of the 1954-55 season and "The Pajama Game" as the best musical. The poll covering persons connected with the legitimate theatre was conducted by "The Billboard," a theatrical weekly publication. The Donaldson awards results were announced yesterday.

The Colonials are still looking for that first victory in the New York-New Jersey Semi-Pro League.

Given a six-hit performance by Bruce Bechtold and Clinton Gary in the Saturday night home opener with Poughkeepsie, Manager Fred Davi's tossers contrived to blow an 8-7 decision. A steal of home by George Oakley proved to be the eventual winning margin for Poughkeepsie.

MORE THAN half of Poughkeepsie's runs were unearned. Bechtold fanned 11 during his stay on the mound. Poughkeepsie committeed seven miscues.

Meanwhile Bill Hauver held the Colonials in check despite 11 hits, four each by Eddie Apps and Bob Maines.

The game was halted at the end of eight innings because of the Sunday curfew.

APP'S SINGLE and two base error figured in Kingston's four-run rally in the second. That put the locals ahead, 4-2, at the end of two.

Poughkeepsie nailed the win with three runs in the sixth on Bertolette's bases-loaded single and Oakley's steal of home. The latter run was the payoff as Kingston rallied for two in the seventh to fall a run shy of tying the game.

Singles by Maines and Gary chased two Colonial runners across. Apps and Maines each belted four singles for Kingston but the locals were hurt in the meat of the batting order with Carlino, Misasi and McMann combining for a weak 15 for 1.

RATHBUN homered with one aboard for Poughkeepsie in the third and later punched a single.

The league-leading Mohawks made a successful foray into the Hudson valley, blanking Poughkeepsie, 7-0, on Joe Stinsa's four-hitter and shading the Newburgh Dodger Jewels, 8-7.

Newburgh Jewels play at Dietz Stadium Saturday night.

Addison Jones tossed out the first ball Saturday night.

Another Harry Grayson exclusive: The Giants and Cardinals are not the only National League clubs that will make changes this season. Branch Rickey is out in Pittsburgh after a dismal five-year run during which attendance dropped from 1,500,000 in 1949 to slightly more than 400,000 the Pirates will be fortunate to draw this season.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Bob Nash will be the varsity footbal center at the U. S. Naval Academy one of these days. The KHS graduate was the best pivot man in the DUSO League in his senior year but the other members of the DUSO Sportswriters Association just wouldn't believe it. Yukon Eric defeated Hans "Bad Man" Schmidt by disqualification (how else!) before 3500 of the fanatics of the cult at Riverview Field. American Legion Post No. 176 (New Paltz-Gardiner-Ardonia and vicinity) is spearheading a movement to organize a junior baseball league for boys 12-13-14 in 1956. . . . Alex Sinclair and Jim Thompson of the Mohawk Club of Schenectady are the Northeastern PGA representatives in this month's national PGA tournament at Detroit.

Shouldn't the TV beer sponsors be mad at a guy who calls himself Harvey Killebrew? Alex Gerlak, the Twaalfskill pro, demonstrated he is not yet ready for the pipe and slipper stage with his three successive par rounds of 36 at Caskill Country Club, home base for his most artistic triumphs. . . . Tom McNelis of Kingston, a member of the Baltimore Sun sports staff, says the honeymoon is over for the Orioles. The Baltimore attendantce will run far below last year's figures and Paul Richards no longer the darling of the fans, man in the street, radio, press and TV guys. As a matter of fact one Baltimore newspaper (not Tom's) ran a sports headline: "Found —A Fan Who Likes Paul Richards." The Sun printed a letter from an irate fan who said, among other things, "Why should I pay big league prices to see a high school team play?" McNells, a brand new daddy, has been covering tennis, baseball and harness racing for the illustrious Sun.

The old bromide which says the club leading the league on the 4th of July should win the flag is only .618 accurate by National League standards. During the 55 seasons since 1900, the axiom has been true on 34 occasions while a total of 21 July 44 leaders have failed to finish on top. The theory originated during the early years of the century and it failed to hold up only once from 1900 to 1913. Then along came the "Miracle Braves" of 1914 to shatter the notion. Most consistent performers in this respect since 1900 have been the New York Giants who won the pennant 10 times after leading on July 4. That was, of course, in the era before the Dandy Little Manager came along. Who blew the biggest Fourth of July lead ever? The Dodgers, who else? They led the Cardinals by 9½ games on July 4, 1942. But, factually, it shouldn't be called a fold job because the Cardinals, under the same Dandy Little Manager (Leo the Lip) that year put on one of the most startling stretch drives in history, with an amazing 41 wins in their last 48 games to nose out the Dodgers by two games.

A Little Known Fact about Mrs. Sylvia Hutchins, wife of the Woodstock Country Club golf professional. She was a crack swimmer and diver with the Rollins College varsity (that's Dick Bezemer's school) and was in training for the Olympics when a back injury halted her career. She can still put on a dazzling show in the Woodstock pool. Just so we get it in the record before inquiries start coming in, the 1955 World Series opens on Wednesday, Sept. 28, with Bob Turley pitching for the Yankees against Don Newcombe of the Dodgers.

Jones Dairy-Panther Game Set Wednesday

League Standings

	Won	Lost
New York Panthers	3	0
Jones Dairy	2	0
Dobler Beer	1	1
Nadler Motors	0	2
Ferraro's Bowlodrome	0	3

This Week's Games

Today—Doblers vs. Nadlers.

Wednesday—Joneses vs. Panthers.

The question of who's boss in the City Baseball League will be settled, temporarily at least, when the unbeaten Jones Dairy and New York Panther nines meet Wednesday evening at the Athletic Field.

NADLER MOTORS seeks its first win of the season against Doblers (1-1) as the league resumes action this evening.

Jay Klosterman and Gerry Bechtold are the probable starters.

Manager Charlie Havlin's Panthers are perched atop the the standings with a 3-0 mark, having whipped Nadlers 2-0, Bowlodrome 10-4 and Nadlers 4-2.

Jones Dairy won its opener from the Bowlodrome, 10-2, and stopped Doblers, 4-2.

The rival managers are expected to lead with their aces and that would mean southpaw Bob Maines for the Panthers and Bruce Bechtold for Jones Dairy.

Louis Smith Cards Net 99 To Win 27-Hole Tournament

Lou Smith fired a net 99 for 27 holes to win the special handicap tournament at Twaalfskill over the weekend.

The veteran ace carded a front nine 33 and tacked on other nines of 38 and 37 for a 108 gross. He played with a 9 handicap.

SECOND PLACE went to Dr. Robert F. Moseley with 100 net on 127 gross and 27 handicap.

Alvin Boice and Maurice Hand tied with 104s. Boice carded 106-2-104 and Hand had 110 with 6 handicap.

Other scores included Fabian L. Russell, 123-18-105; Dr. Rodney F. Ball 124-18-106; Gene Berardi 137-27-110; Harry Hartley 126-14-112.

Dr. R. Moseley Annexes Twaalfskill Seniors

Dr. Robert F. Moseley carded a career low of 36 for the first nine holes en route to first place in Twaalfskill's 13-hole seniors tournament yesterday.

Dr. Moseley slipped slightly in the next four holes but his 54 gross with 13 handicap gave him a net 41 to lead the field.

THE TOURNAMENT was restricted to 13 holes because of the heat.

Bernard "Doc" Forst took second place with a 45 net on 65 gross and 20 handicap.

Other scores included: James A. Dwyer, 54-8-46; Dr. Frederick Carr, 60-13-47; Louis J. Smith, 51-4-47; Jay LeFevre, 62-14-48; Gus Schrowang, 55-6-49; Burton Haver, 59-9-50; Walton Fitzgerald, 63-12-51; Floyd W. Flint, 65-12-53.

Unknown Sets 95-Year Low With 63 in British Open

St. Andrews, Scotland, July 5 (AP) — The harrowing reputation of this ancient cradle of golf was at stake today in the British Open.

Is it really a fire-breathing monster or have golfers down through the years let superstition get the better of them?

They walk in awe on the 6,936-yard, par 72 old course and are only slightly less respectful of the 6,526-yard, par 71 new course.

But yesterday in the first 18-hole qualifying round for the Open, Americans, Englishmen, Scots, continentals and the one Australian in the tournament—defending champion Peter Thomson — blasted their way around the two layouts as though they were bush league courses.

IT WAS ALMOST as though it was contagious. Out of a field of 270, 19 players broke 70 and little-known Frank Jowle, a 43-year old Yorkshireman, ran up an amazing 63 on the new course.

When it was all over, here were some of the vital statistics:

1. Forty posted scores bettering par.
2. It was the finest round of competitive golf ever recorded in the 500 years of St. Andrews.
3. Jowle's round was the lowest ever posted in the 95-year-old British Open.
4. It was the third lowest competitive round ever shot anywhere in Britain.

Americans also joined in the assault. British Amateur champion Joe Conrad of San Antonio had a 67, while Byron Nelson, now a play-for-fun golfer, came up with a 69. Jimmy McHale of Philadelphia had a 70, while Ed Furgol, 1954 U. S. Open champion, shot a 71.

The game was halted at the end of eight innings because of the Sunday curfew.

APP'S SINGLE and two base error figured in Kingston's four-run rally in the second. That put the locals ahead, 4-2, at the end of two.

Poughkeepsie nailed the win with three runs in the sixth on Bertolette's bases-loaded single and Oakley's steal of home. The latter run was the payoff as Kingston rallied for two in the seventh to fall a run shy of tying the game.

Singles by Maines and Gary chased two Colonial runners across. Apps and Maines each belted four singles for Kingston but the locals were hurt in the meat of the batting order with Carlino, Misasi and McMann combining for a weak 15 for 1.

RATHBUN homered with one aboard for Poughkeepsie in the third and later punched a single.

The league-leading Mohawks made a successful foray into the Hudson valley, blanking Poughkeepsie, 7-0, on Joe Stinsa's four-hitter and shading the Newburgh Dodger Jewels, 8-7.

Newburgh Jewels play at Dietz Stadium Saturday night.

Addison Jones tossed out the first ball Saturday night.

Another Harry Grayson exclusive: The Giants and Cardinals are not the only National League clubs that will make changes this season. Branch Rickey is out in Pittsburgh after a dismal five-year run during which attendance dropped from 1,500,000 in 1949 to slightly more than 400,000 the Pirates will be fortunate to draw this season.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Bob Nash will be the varsity footbal center at the U. S. Naval Academy one of these days. The KHS graduate was the best pivot man in the DUSO League in his senior year but the other members of the DUSO Sportswriters Association just wouldn't believe it. Yukon Eric defeated Hans "Bad Man" Schmidt by disqualification (how else!) before 3500 of the fanatics of the cult at Riverview Field. American Legion Post No. 176 (New Paltz-Gardiner-Ardonia and vicinity) is spearheading a movement to organize a junior baseball league for boys 12-13-14 in 1956. . . . Alex Sinclair and Jim Thompson of the Mohawk Club of Schenectady are the Northeastern PGA representatives in this month's national PGA tournament at Detroit.

Shouldn't the TV beer sponsors be mad at a guy who calls himself Harvey Killebrew? Alex Gerlak, the Twaalfskill pro, demonstrated he is not yet ready for the pipe and slipper stage with his three successive par rounds of 36 at Caskill Country Club, home base for his most artistic triumphs. . . . Tom McNelis of Kingston, a member of the Baltimore Sun sports staff, says the honeymoon is over for the Orioles. The Baltimore attendance will run far below last year's figures and Paul Richards no longer the darling of the fans, man in the street, radio, press and TV guys. As a matter of fact one Baltimore newspaper (not Tom's) ran a sports headline: "Found—A Fan Who Likes Paul Richards." The Sun printed a letter from an irate fan who said, among other things, "Why should I pay big league prices to see a high school team play?" McNelis, a brand new daddy, has been covering tennis, baseball and harness racing for the illustrious Sun.

The old bromide which says the club leading the league on the 4th of July should win the flag is only .618 accurate by National League standards. During the 55 seasons since 1900, the axiom has been true on 34 occasions while a total of 21 July 44 leaders have failed to finish on top. The theory originated during the early years of the century and it failed to hold up only once from 1900 to 1913. Then along came the "Miracle Braves" of 1914 to shatter the notion. Most consistent performers in this respect since 1900 have been the New York Giants who won the pennant 10 times after leading on July 4. That was, of course, in the era before the Dandy Little Manager came along. Who blew the biggest Fourth of July lead ever? The Dodgers, who else? They led the Cardinals by 9½ games on July 4, 1942. But, factually, it shouldn't be called a fold job because the Cardinals, under the same Dandy Little Manager (Leo the Lip) that year put on one of the most startling stretch drives in history, with an amazing 41 wins in their last 48 games to nose out the Dodgers by two games.

A Little Known Fact about Mrs. Sylvia Hutchins, wife of the Woodstock Country Club golf professional. She was a crack swimmer and diver with the Rollins College varsity (that's Dick Bezemer's school) and was in training for the Olympics when a back injury halted her career. She can still put on a dazzling show in the Woodstock pool. Just so we get it in the record before inquiries start coming in, the 1955 World Series opens on Wednesday, Sept. 28, with Bob Turley pitching for the Yankees against Don Newcombe of the Dodgers.

Jones Dairy-Panther Game Set Wednesday

League Standings

	Won	Lost
New York Panthers	3	0
Jones Dairy	2	0
Dobler Beer	1	1
Nadler Motors	0	2
Ferraro's Bowlodrome	0	3

This Week's Games

Today—Doblers vs. Nadlers.

Wednesday—Joneses vs. Panthers.

The question of who's boss in the City Baseball League will be settled, temporarily at least, when the unbeaten Jones Dairy and New York Panther nines meet Wednesday evening at the Athletic Field.

NADLER MOTORS seeks its first win of the season against Doblers (1-1) as the league resumes action this evening.

Jay Klosterman and Gerry Bechtold are the probable starters.

Manager Charlie Havlin's Panthers are perched atop the the standings with a 3-0 mark, having whipped Nadlers 2-0, Bowlodrome 10-4 and Nadlers 4-2.

Jones Dairy won its opener from the Bowlodrome, 10-2, and stopped Doblers, 4-2.

The rival managers are expected to lead with their aces and that would mean southpaw Bob Maines for the Panthers and Bruce Bechtold for Jones Dairy.

Louis Smith Cards Net 99 To Win 27-Hole Tournament

Lou Smith fired a net 99 for 27 holes to win the special handicap tournament at Twaalfskill over the weekend.

The veteran ace carded a front nine 33 and tacked on other nines of 38 and 37 for a 108 gross. He played with a 9 handicap.

SECOND PLACE went to Dr. Robert F. Moseley with 100 net on 127 gross and 27 handicap.

Alvin Boice and Maurice Hand tied with 104s. Boice carded 106-2-104 and Hand had 110 with 6 handicap.

Other scores included Fabian L. Russell, 123-18-105; Dr. Rodney F. Ball 124-18-106; Gene Berardi 137-27-110; Harry Hartley 126-14-112.

Dr. Robert F. Moseley carded a career low of 36 for the first nine holes en route to first place in Twaalfskill's 13-hole seniors tournament yesterday.

Dr. Moseley slipped slightly in the next four holes but his 54 gross with 13 handicap gave him a net 41 to lead the field.

THE TOURNAMENT was restricted to 13 holes because of the heat.

Bernard "Doc" Forst took second place with a 45 net on 65 gross and 20 handicap.

Other scores included: James A. Dwyer, 54-8-46; Dr. Frederick Carr, 60-13-47; Louis J. Smith, 51-4-47; Jay LeFevre, 62-14-48; Gus Schrowang, 55-6-49; Burton Haver, 59-9-50; Walton Fitzgerald, 63-12-51; Floyd W. Flint, 65-12-53.

Unknown Sets 95-Year Low With 63 in British Open

St. Andrews, Scotland, July 5 (AP)—The harrowing reputation of this ancient cradle of golf was at stake today in the British Open.

Is it really a fire-breathing monster or have golfers down through the years let superstition get the better of them?

They walk in awe on the 6,936-yard, par 72 old course and are only slightly less respectful of the 6,526-yard, par 71 new course.

But yesterday in the first 18-hole qualifying round for the Open, Americans, Englishmen, Scots, continentals and the one Australian in the tournament—defending champion Peter Thomson — blasted their way around the two layouts as though they were bush league courses.

IT WAS ALMOST as though it was contagious. Out of a field of 270, 19 players broke 70 and little-known Frank Jowle, a 43-year old Yorkshireman, ran up an amazing 63 on the new course.

When it was all over, here were some of the vital statistics:

1. Forty posted scores bettering par.
2. It was the finest round of competitive golf ever recorded in the 500 years of St. Andrews.
3. Jowle's round was the lowest ever posted in the 95-year-old British Open.
4. It was the third lowest competitive round ever shot anywhere in Britain.

Americans also joined in the assault. British Amateur champion Joe Conrad of San Antonio had a 67, while Byron Nelson, now a play-for-fun golfer, came up with a 69. Jimmy McHale of Philadelphia had a 70, while Ed Furgol, 1954 U. S. Open champion, shot a 71.

What in heck are the Boston Red Sox doing back there in fourth place? The way those guys look they ought to be away out front in the American League race.

They showed just about everything a manager could want—power hitting and great pitching—while whacking the league leading New York Yankees in a doubleheader yesterday 4-2 and 10-5.

The 43,794 fans at Yankee Stadium figured to see some fireworks, it being the Fourth of July and with plenty of advance warning that the Red Sox were hot — but the explosive abuse Boston hurled at the Yanks was a stunner.

MOST OF THE fans came to see the one and only Ted Williams. He obliged with a double and a towering home run to the upper deck in right field. It was his 10th. That was in the opener. He walked as a pinch-hitter in the second game.

But it wasn't all Williams. Willard Nixon, still treating the Yanks like patsies, made his record 7-2 over the New Yorkers, knocking home two runs with a single before retiring from the mound in the first game because of the 96-degree heat after five innings. Ike Delock took it from there.

Five pinch batters were used — four of them Yanks—and all fanned.

Boston really blew up in the nightcap, romping in on a grand slammer by Jackie Jensen and a three-run homer by Norm Zauchin in the ninth. Tom Hurd held New York to two hits in 6 1/3 innings of relief.

The sweep gave Boston 24 victories in the last 29 games, yet because of a slow start the club's only in fourth place. Over that same 29-game span, the Yanks have won 17, Cleveland and Chicago 16 apiece and Detroit 12. Still, Detroit is the only club Boston's been able to overtake.

CLEVELAND made a move in the doubleheader doings, taking second place by beating Detroit twice, 6-5 and 8-5, while the White Sox slipped to third by splitting at Kansas City. Chicago won the opener 8-3, but lost the second 4-3. Baltimore beat Washington 6-2 in the only single game action.

In the National, first place Brooklyn rapped Philadelphia twice, 11-2 and 6-3; Chicago split with Cincinnati, losing 6-3 before winning 4-3; St. Louis took two from Milwaukee, 4-2 and 5-4; Pittsburgh beat New York 4-3, then lost 5-3.

The day's work left the Yanks atop the American League, five games up on Cleveland, and Brooklyn ahead of the Cubs by 12½ in the National.

THERE WERE a total of 37 homers hit in the 15 games yesterday (the one-day record is 40), and the Dodgers smacked six of the National League's 20. Duke Snider belted Nos. 26 and 27 and drove in six runs for the day while Don Newcombe and Clem Labine kept the Phils in check. For Newcombe it was No. 14. For Labine, it was the first complete game in 24 starts dating back to the pennant playoff of 1951. The temperature was 98 in Philly.

The Giants salvaged a split on Willie Mays' 20th homer in the 11th inning of the second game. Pittsburgh won the first when Paul Giel walked home the big run in the ninth inning.

Mrs. Jessie Burnett First In WCC Flag Tournament

Mrs. Jessie Burnett finished in the fairway on the 19th hole to capture Monday's Flag Day tournament at the Woodstock Country Club.

With four strokes to her credit of the 14 alloted her, Mrs. Burnett negotiated the par-3 ninth in regulation figures to give her a drive on the 19th.

Walter Van Wagenen took second place by landing in the 18th cup. Three others finished on the 18th green to win prizes, among them Ord Morrel, Mrs. Inger Walker and Harry Hohnhorst.

Winners Named In Water Carnival

Phil Overbaugh won the 50-yard free style race for boys in the feature swimming event of water carnival held Monday at the Saugerties municipal beach.

Other winners included Bonney Craft in the 25-yard for girls 8-11; Walter Splittner, 25-yard free style for boys 8-11; Terry Craft, 50-yard, free style for boys 11-14.

Overbagh also teamed with Richard Brackett for a first place in the 100-yard relay. Bonney Craft scored her second win in the 50-yard free style for girls 11-14 and Jackie Gilmore won the 50-yard free style for girls 14-18.

IN OTHER special events, Wallace Michael and Marzell Roming Jr. scored a first in the canoe tilting for senior boys. Pat Lane and Doris Fister won the canoe tilting for girls the first time they ever were in a canoe. Daniel Legg and Robert Wolven took the canoe tilting for junior boys.

Gordon Bell captured the 3-lap outboard race. William C. Plimley was the water carnival director and was assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Neiffer, William Plimley Jr., Eugene Lang, William Paley and Albert J. Cawein.

Kaline, Ashburn Batting Leaders

New York, July 5 (AP)—Detroit's Al Kaline and Richie Ashburn of the Philadelphia Phillies held the Major League batting leads today and if the American League competition follows the pattern of 1954 Kaline still should be the No. 1 hitter at the season's end.

Kaline upped his average eight points to .373 in last week's games with 18 hits in 43 at bats. He increased his margin over runnerup Nellie Fox of Chicago, who dropped two points to .337.

Ashburn, the National League leader, lost four points to .349 with 10 safeties in 31 trips. Brooklyn's Roy Campanella, in second place, slumped three points to .335 before he was sidelined with a knee injury.

Al Kaline, star outfielder for the Detroit Tigers, never has played in the minor leagues. He signed for a bonus right out of High School.

TO THE SHOWERS—Umpire Bill Engeln, center, left, is just ordering Pirate pitcher Dick Littlefield from the field in the fourth inning of the Pittsburgh-New York Giants second game in Pittsburgh July 4. Littlefield was protesting Engeln's call of a balk that ruled Hank Thompson safe on a steal of home. Behind Engeln is Manager Haney, at top are umpire Dusty Boggess and Frank Thomas, and umpire at centerright is Babe Pinelli. No. 27 is Littlefield. (AP Wirephoto)

Youthful Ace Cards Pair of 73s

Firing two steady rounds of 73 on Woodstock's steaming fairways, Herbie Waterous compiled a 36 hole total of 136 to join the illustrious coterie of players who have won the Warren Townley Memorial tournament.

Waterous, youngest member of Woodstock's prominent golf family, was deadlocked with club champion, Bill Van Aken, with 73s at the end of 18 holes.

THE FINAL round of one of Woodstock's major tournaments found Waterous trailing Van Aken by a stroke after 19 holes. He bogied the first hole while Van Aken was down in par figures.

Waterous gained the equalizer on the second hole and went ahead to stay on the seventh. He carded a front nine 37 to lead Van Aken by two shots. And then applied steady pressure for an incoming 36 while Van Aken needed another 39.

Waterous' net of 136 was also good enought to nail down first place for his backers in the Calcutta tournament.

VAN AKEN'S 151 gave him second in the gross department.

Other low net scorers and winners in the Calcutta were Walter Van Wagenen with 84-78-162-20-142; Frank X. McCahill, 76-78-154-10-144; Ord Morrell, 83-82-165-22-143; Bill Waterous, 78-76-154-6-148.

Wealthy Widow Strangled

Philadelphia, July 5 (AP)—A wealthy 65-year-old widow was found strangled yesterday in her apartment at a Center City Hotel and police said they had no immediate clues to the slayer. Although there was superficial evidence of ransacking in the apartment of Mrs. Lulubel Rossman, almost $4,000 in cash, a quantity of jewelry and other valuables were untouched. Mrs. Rossman, widow of Palen P. Rossman, former senior partner in a firm of certified public accountants, had returned recently from a trip to Miami. Police said she was last seen alive Saturday by a bellhop.

Williams Happy He's Playing Again

New York, July 5 (AP)—Ted Williams, still baseball's best hitter although approaching 37, is glad he changed his mind about retiring.

The lanky Boston Red Sox slugger, just recovered from an inflammation of a muscle in his back that sidelined him for 10 days, is so pleased with his hitting, he now says he will play as long as he believes he can help the club.

"My back is still a little sore," Williams explained before yesterday's doubleheader against the New York Yankees, "and my legs hurt a bit when I try to run real hard. Outside of that, I feel wonderful for an old man, better than I have in years."

THE SCOREBOARD

BY ED WILKS
The Associated Press

What in heck are the Boston Red Sox doing back there in fourth place? The way those guys look they ought to be away out front in the American League race.

They showed just about everything a manager could want—power hitting and great pitching—while whacking the league leading New York Yankees in a doubleheader yesterday 4-2 and 10-5.

The 43,794 fans at Yankee Stadium figured to see some fireworks, it being the Fourth of July and with plenty of advance warning that the Red Sox were hot — but the explosive abuse Boston hurled at the Yanks was a stunner.

MOST OF THE fans came to see the one and only Ted Williams. He obliged with a double and a towering home run to the upper deck in right field. It was his 10th. That was in the opener. He walked as a pinch-hitter in the second game.

But it wasn't all Williams. Willard Nixon, still treating the Yanks like patsies, made his record 7-2 over the New Yorkers, knocking home two runs with a single before retiring from the mound in the first game because of the 96-degree heat after five innings. Ike Delock took it from there.

Five pinch batters were used — four of them Yanks—and all fanned.

Boston really blew up in the nightcap, romping in on a grand slammer by Jackie Jensen and a three-run homer by Norm Zauchin in the ninth. Tom Hurd held New York to two hits in 6 1/3 innings of relief.

The sweep gave Boston 24 victories in the last 29 games, yet because of a slow start the club's only in fourth place. Over that same 29-game span, the Yanks have won 17, Cleveland and Chicago 16 apiece and Detroit 12. Still, Detroit is the only club Boston's been able to overtake.

CLEVELAND made a move in the doubleheader doings, taking second place by beating Detroit twice, 6-5 and 8-5, while the White Sox slipped to third by splitting at Kansas City. Chicago won the opener 8-3, but lost the second 4-3. Baltimore beat Washington 6-2 in the only single game action.

In the National, first place Brooklyn rapped Philadelphia twice, 11-2 and 6-3; Chicago split with Cincinnati, losing 6-3 before winning 4-3; St. Louis took two from Milwaukee, 4-2 and 5-4; Pittsburgh beat New York 4-3, then lost 5-3.

The day's work left the Yanks atop the American League, five games up on Cleveland, and Brooklyn ahead of the Cubs by 12½ in the National.

THERE WERE a total of 37 homers hit in the 15 games yesterday (the one-day record is 40), and the Dodgers smacked six of the National League's 20. Duke Snider belted Nos. 26 and 27 and drove in six runs for the day while Don Newcombe and Clem Labine kept the Phils in check. For Newcombe it was No. 14. For Labine, it was the first complete game in 24 starts dating back to the pennant playoff of 1951. The temperature was 98 in Philly.

The Giants salvaged a split on Willie Mays' 20th homer in the 11th inning of the second game. Pittsburgh won the first when Paul Giel walked home the big run in the ninth inning.

Herbie Waterous' 146 Cops Townley Tourney

Dr. J. Olivet-Mrs. J. Van Gonsic Low With 35 in Mixed Tourney

Mrs. John J. Van Gonsic and Dr. John Olivet teamed for a net 35 to win Sunday's two-ball mixed foursome tournament at Twaalfskill.

The winners carded a gross 46 and had 11 handicap.

Other scores in the nine-hole event included: Mrs. James Berardi-Hugh R. Elwyn, 48-13-35; Mrs. Charles J. Turck-Maurice Hand, 48-11-37; Mrs. Harold F. King-William Darling, 48-10-38; Mrs. Albert Tocks-Charles J. Turck, 50-11-39; Mrs. Hugh R. Elwyn-Gene Berardi, 50-11-39.

Youthful Ace Cards Pair of 73s

Firing two steady rounds of 73 on Woodstock's steaming fairways, Herbie Waterous compiled a 36 hole total of 136 to join the illustrious coterie of players who have won the Warren Townley Memorial tournament.

Waterous, youngest member of Woodstock's prominent golf family, was deadlocked with club champion, Bill Van Aken, with 73s at the end of 18 holes.

THE FINAL round of one of Woodstock's major tournaments found Waterous trailing Van Aken by a stroke after 19 holes. He bogied the first hole while Van Aken was down in par figures.

Waterous gained the equalizer on the second hole and went ahead to stay on the seventh. He carded a front nine 37 to lead Van Aken by two shots. And then applied steady pressure for an incoming 36 while Van Aken needed another 39.

Waterous' net of 136 was also good enought to nail down first place for his backers in the Calcutta tournament.

VAN AKEN'S 151 gave him second in the gross department.

Other low net scorers and winners in the Calcutta were Walter Van Wagenen with 84-78-162-20-142; Frank X. McCahill, 76-78-154-10-144; Ord Morrell, 83-82-165-22-143; Bill Waterous, 78-76-154-6-148.

Mrs. Jessie Burnett First In WCC Flag Tournament

Mrs. Jessie Burnett finished in the fairway on the 19th hole to capture Monday's Flag Day tournament at the Woodstock Country Club.

With four strokes to her credit of the 14 alloted her, Mrs. Burnett negotiated the par-3 ninth in regulation figures to give her a drive on the 19th.

Walter Van Wagenen took second place by landing in the 18th cup. Three others finished on the 18th green to win prizes, among them Ord Morrel, Mrs. Inger Walker and Harry Hohnhorst.

Winners Named In Water Carnival

Phil Overbaugh won the 50-yard free style race for boys in the feature swimming event of water carnival held Monday at the Saugerties municipal beach.

Other winners included Bonney Craft in the 25-yard for girls 8-11; Walter Splittner, 25-yard free style for boys 8-11; Terry Craft, 50-yard, free style for boys 11-14.

Overbagh also teamed with Richard Brackett for a first place in the 100-yard relay. Bonney Craft scored her second win in the 50-yard free style for girls 11-14 and Jackie Gilmore won the 50-yard free style for girls 14-18.

IN OTHER special events, Wallace Michael and Marzell Roming Jr. scored a first in the canoe tilting for senior boys. Pat Lane and Doris Fister won the canoe tilting for girls the first time they ever were in a canoe. Daniel Legg and Robert Wolven took the canoe tilting for junior boys.

Gordon Bell captured the 3-lap outboard race. William C. Plimley was the water carnival director and was assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Neiffer, William Plimley Jr., Eugene Lang, William Paley and Albert J. Cawein.

Kaline, Ashburn Batting Leaders

New York, July 5 (AP)—Detroit's Al Kaline and Richie Ashburn of the Philadelphia Phillies held the Major League batting leads today and if the American League competition follows the pattern of 1954 Kaline still should be the No. 1 hitter at the season's end.

Kaline upped his average eight points to .373 in last week's games with 18 hits in 43 at bats. He increased his margin over runnerup Nellie Fox of Chicago, who dropped two points to .337.

Ashburn, the National League leader, lost four points to .349 with 10 safeties in 31 trips. Brooklyn's Roy Campanella, in second place, slumped three points to .335 before he was sidelined with a knee injury.

Al Kaline, star outfielder for the Detroit Tigers, never has played in the minor leagues. He signed for a bonus right out of High School.

TO THE SHOWERS—Umpire Bill Engeln, center, left, is just ordering Pirate pitcher Dick Littlefield from the field in the fourth inning of the Pittsburgh-New York Giants second game in Pittsburgh July 4. Littlefield was protesting Engeln's call of a balk that ruled Hank Thompson safe on a steal of home. Behind Engeln is Manager Haney, at top are umpire Dusty Boggess and Frank Thomas, and umpire at centerright is Babe Pinelli. No. 27 is L[illefield]. (AP Wirephoto)

Russia Stresses

tea leaves," Khrushchev told Walmsley:

"They ponder why the Soviet Union has made so many proposals that please the west so much. Of course we made these proposals not for the purpose of pleasing somebody. We made these decisions because they were the right decisions and this is what motivated us."

THE SOVIET chief added that some people "think that if the Soviet Union makes a contribution there was something that forced it to make that decision and even that the Soviet Union was afraid of some catastrophe if she did not."

Walmsley commented that the reason for holding the Geneva Conference was the lack of unanimity among the great powers. If such unanimity existed, there would be no need for the conference, he pointed out.

"We are delighted to go to Geneva," Khruschev said, "but if you are not prepared to talk seriously we can wait and hold on."

Noting that some people are saying that one reason behind Russia's desire for agreement with the west is a bad harvest, the Communist chief said:

"I want to tell them that we have never had a more solid situation than now. Our agriculture is in full swing; I don't care whether you like it or not. Our industry is overfulfilling its plans . . . our construction is all right although I, myself, made a very critical speech at the conference of builders.

"The solidarity of our party has never been such as it is now," he added, "and as for the unity of the people with the party—you send people around the country: you can judge for yourself."

KHRUSHCHEV said he liked a statement by Eisenhower at the President's press conference last Wednesday—but "not all of it."

"I must tell the truth: There were right things and wrong things," he said. "I think that in any case what he said was a fresh stream of ozone. . ."

Eisenhower told newsmen last week he was more optimistic than two months ago that the Geneva talks might accomplish something useful.

The President said it was obvious that a chance had taken place of late in the Soviet attitude toward world problems but that no one really knew who was the dominating influence in the Soviet government.

WALMSLEY SAID it was not surprising that Khrushchev should disagree with some of Eisenhower's remarks.

"That is why we are going to Geneva," he said. "If we go with our own ideas of what can be achieved, that is not the monopoly of the United States alone. Every country can bring its own ideas."

"I'm glad we are going to Geneva," the charge d'affaires added. "The reason for our going are our disagreements."

Walmsley said he thought that Khrushchev had been misinformed about U. S. press speculation concerning the conference which the Communist chief had described as "irresponsible."

Finland became a republic in 1919. For a century or more earlier, it was an autonomous grand duchy of the Russian Empire.

More Federal Aid

quire no increase in the federal gasoline tax, which the Gore plan would require.

THE EISENHOWER highway program was drafted by Gen. Lucius D. Clay, and its sponsor in the House is Minority Leader Joseph W. Martin (R.-Mass.). The Senate, brushing aside the Martin-Clay Plan, has approved the Gore substitute which is now pending in the House.

Federal subsidies for construction of federally designated interstate highways are provided in both Eisenhower's program and in the Gore Bill. One thousand miles of roads in New York state are involved. These include the thruway route; Route 9 from New York city north through Albany to the Canadian border above Plattsburgh; a new route from the Binghamton-Elmira area to the St. Lawrence valley, and a route from Port Jervis on the Pennsylvania border to Bear Mountain.

MORHOUSE said in his statement:

"If the President's program, unfortunately, should not be enacted I hope the Gore Bill will be amended to allow New York an additional 500 miles of eligible interstate routes to make up for the 500-million-dollar thruway reimbursement that would be lost."

Morhouse said the greater highway aid provided for New York state in the Eisenhower program could be used to modernize Route 17 upstate, extend parkways in Westchester county and on Long Island, and reconstruct other highways not covered by the new federal aid to be provided primarily for interstate highways within New York state.

Morhouse said the Gore program is "another of those giveaways that benefit other sections of the country at the expense of New York, which, among the states, pays the largest share of federal taxes."

Time Saving Lunch

Santa Fe, N. M. (AP) — The State Game Commission held a session in Santa Fe, the only major city in New Mexico with daylight saving time. Chairman C. M. Botts, who ate breakfast on standard time, wanted to know if the commission recessed for lunch on daylight or standard time. The folks who ate breakfast on daylight time favored going to lunch on the same basis. They prevailed.

Thinks Confidence Shaken in Vaccine

Washington, July 5 (AP)—J. Russell Wiggins of the Washington Post and Times Herald said last night he thinks public confidence in the Salk polio vaccine "has been shaken" by lack of candor on the part of the government.

Wiggins, the newspaper's vice president and executive editor who also is chairman of the Freedom of Information Committee of the American Society of Newspaper Editors (ASNE), told an MBS radio audience:

"I believe that the Department of Health, Education and Welfare did not take the public into its confidence regarding any of the defects, and difficulties, connected with the new vaccine, and that consequently when it was learned that there were some disadvantages in it and when defects appeared, it was a great shock to the public opinion."

UN Holds

tinued wilful and flagrant violation of the truce agreement."

"The time has came," he said, "to demand that the powers who are directing your iniquitous activities stop trying to reconcile your Dr. Jekyll with your Mr. Hyde."

BEFORE THE commission met Communist correspondents told the UN press group they were invited to attend Lee's press conference after the Mac meeting.

The Mac meeting by custom is closed to the press.

UN newsmen have talked at Panmunjom with numerous Red officers. But an invitation to a Communist press conference there is a rarity.

After Parks' blast at the Reds, the newsmen were even more interested in talking with Lee.

Parks, however, called a new conference of his own. When he learned of the Communist offer, he barred the newsmen from attending.

Hollywood (AP) — Oscar Hammerstein o. musical world fame was touring the set of "Oklahoma" at a movie studio. On an impulse he asked a deputy sheriff, who was escorting him, what he thought of the production. "Just great," said the deputy, "but why are they using all that old music?"

LOSES ENOUGH HOSE — Surrounded by neighborhood children George Di Peso snips his garden hose that has been burrowing itself underground in his front lawn since June 30. With 17 feet of the hose gone Di Peso decided to clip the rest of the hose off in Downey, Cal., July 4, and just sit back and see what happens. He is going to leave the hole open for awhile to watch for any further movement. Di Peso doesn't think the hose has moved downward but an inch or two in the last 12 hours. (AP Wirephoto).

Mrs. McCrae, a World War 2 WASP (Women's Air Force Service Pilot), said the plane she piloted averaged 157 miles per hour across the country. The fastest leg was 184 M.P.H. between Long Beach and El Paso, Tex.

THE ONLY difficulty they encountered, Mrs. McCrea said, was compass trouble. The compass was off 20 degrees on Saturday and 15 degrees Sunday. She corrected by constant checks on radio stations.

The third finishers were Jane B. Hart and Marion W. Ruth, both of Lansing, Mich. They landed at 4:51 p. m. (EDT).

Other finishers in the order they landed yesterday: Alice Roberts of Phoenix, Ariz., and Iris Critchem of Palos Verdes Estates, Calif.

Frances B. Bera, Los Angeles, and Edna Bower, Long Beach, Calif.

De Thurmond, Long Beach, Calif., first solo pilot to reach the finish line.

The other planes must arrive by Wednesday to qualify for prizes.

Costly Norway Fire

Bergen, Norway, July 5 (AP)—A fire which raged through the Bergen Harbor area for nearly four hours was brought under control early today. It leveled half of the early 18th century wooden trading houses on the ancient "German quay." Some 40 of the most historic buildings in Norway were reduced to ashes. Damages were estimated at about $240,000 or around 1,700,000 kronar.

Russia Stresses

tea leaves," Khrushchev told Walmsley:

"They ponder why the Soviet Union has made so many proposals that please the west so much. Of course we made these proposals not for the purpose of pleasing somebody. We made these decisions because they were the right decisions and this is what motivated us."

THE SOVIET chief added that some people "think that if the Soviet Union makes a contribution there was something that forced it to make that decision and even that the Soviet Union was afraid of some catastrophe if she did not."

Walmsley commented that the reason for holding the Geneva Conference was the lack of unanimity among the great powers. If such unanimity existed, there would be no need for the conference, he pointed out.

"We are delighted to go to Geneva," Khruschev said, "but if you are not prepared to talk seriously we can wait and hold on."

Noting that some people are saying that one reason behind Russia's desire for agreement with the west is a bad harvest, the Communist chief said:

"I want to tell them that we have never had a more solid situation than now. Our agriculture is in full swing; I don't care whether you like it or not. Our industry is overfulfilling its plans . . . our construction is all right although I, myself, made a very critical speech at the conference of builders.

"The solidarity of our party has never been such as it is now," he added, "and as for the unity of the people with the party—you send people around the country: you can judge for yourself."

KHRUSHCHEV said he liked a statement by Eisenhower at the President's press conference last Wednesday—but "not all of it."

"I must tell the truth: There were right things and wrong things," he said. "I think that in any case what he said was a fresh stream of ozone. . ."

Eisenhower told newsmen last week he was more optimistic than two months ago that the Geneva talks might accomplish something useful.

The President said it was obvious that a chance had taken place of late in the Soviet attitude toward world problems but that no one really knew who was the dominating influence in the Soviet government.

WALMSLEY SAID it was not surprising that Khrushchev should disagree with some of Eisenhower's remarks.

"That is why we are going to Geneva," he said. "If we go with our own ideas of what can be achieved, that is not the monopoly of the United States alone. Every country can bring its own ideas."

"I'm glad we are going to Geneva," the charge d'affaires added. "The reason for our going are our disagreements."

Walmsley said he thought that Khrushchev had been misinformed about U. S. press speculation concerning the conference which the Communist chief had described as "irresponsible."

More Federal Aid

quire no increase in the federal gasoline tax, which the Gore plan would require.

THE EISENHOWER highway program was drafted by Gen. Lucius D. Clay, and its sponsor in the House is Minority Leader Joseph W. Martin (R.-Mass.). The Senate, brushing aside the Martin-Clay Plan, has approved the Gore substitute which is now pending in the House.

Federal subsidies for construction of federally designated interstate highways are provided in both Eisenhower's program and in the Gore Bill. One thousand miles of roads in New York state are involved. These include the thruway route; Route 9 from New York city north through Albany to the Canadian border above Plattsburgh; a new route from the Binghamton-Elmira area to the St. Lawrence valley, and a route from Port Jervis on the Pennsylvania border to Bear Mountain.

MORHOUSE said in his statement:

"If the President's program, unfortunately, should not be enacted I hope the Gore Bill will be amended to allow New York an additional 500 miles of eligible interstate routes to make up for the 500-million-dollar thruway reimbursement that would be lost."

Morhouse said the greater highway aid provided for New York state in the Eisenhower program could be used to modernize Route 17 upstate, extend parkways in Westchester county and on Long Island, and reconstruct other highways not covered by the new federal aid to be provided primarily for interstate highways within New York state.

Morhouse said the Gore program is "another of those giveaways that benefit other sections of the country at the expense of New York, which, among the states, pays the largest share of federal taxes."

Time Saving Lunch

Santa Fe, N. M. (AP) — The State Game Commission held a session in Santa Fe, the only major city in New Mexico with daylight saving time. Chairman C. M. Botts, who ate breakfast on standard time, wanted to know if the commission recessed for lunch on daylight or standard time. The folks who ate breakfast on daylight time favored going to lunch on the same basis. They prevailed.

Thinks Confidence Shaken in Vaccine

Washington, July 5 (AP)—J. Russell Wiggins of the Washington Post and Times Herald said last night he thinks public confidence in the Salk polio vaccine "has been shaken" by lack of candor on the part of the government.

Wiggins, the newspaper's vice president and executive editor who also is chairman of the Freedom of Information Committee of the American Society of Newspaper Editors (ASNE), told an MBS radio audience:

"I believe that the Department of Health, Education and Welfare did not take the public into its confidence regarding any of the defects, and difficulties, connected with the new vaccine, and that consequently when it was learned that there were some disadvantages in it and when defects appeared, it was a great shock to the public opinion."

UN Holds

tinued wilful and flagrant violation of the truce agreement."

"The time has came," he said, "to demand that the powers who are directing your iniquitous activities stop trying to reconcile your Dr. Jekyll with your Mr. Hyde."

BEFORE THE commission met Communist correspondents told the UN press group they were invited to attend Lee's press conference after the Mac meeting.

The Mac meeting by custom is closed to the press.

UN newsmen have talked at Panmunjom with numerous Red officers. But an invitation to a Communist press conference there is a rarity.

After Parks' blast at the Reds, the newsmen were even more interested in talking with Lee.

Parks, however, called a new conference of his own. When he learned of the Communist offer, he barred the newsmen from attending.

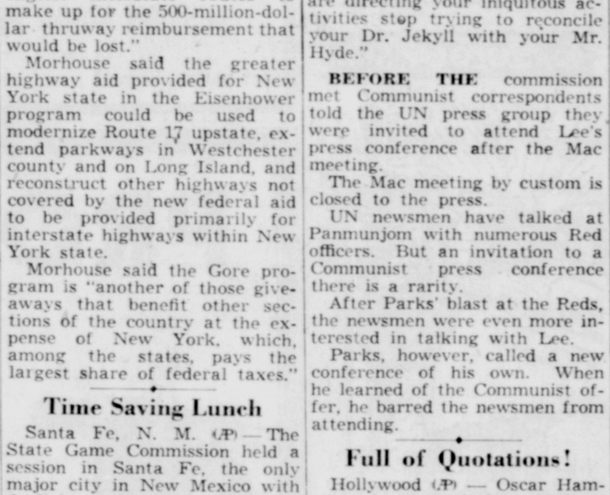
Hollywood (AP) — Oscar Hammerstein c. musical world fame was touring the set of "Oklahoma" at a movie studio. On an impulse he asked a deputy sheriff, who was escorting him, what he thought of the production. "Just great," said the deputy, "but why are they using all that old music?"



LOSES ENOUGH HOSE — Surrounded by neighborhood children George Di Peso snips his garden hose that has been burrowing itself underground in his front lawn since June 30. With 17 feet of the hose gone Di Peso decided to clip the rest of the hose off in Downey, Cal., July 4, and just sit back and see what happens. He is going to leave the hole open for awhile to watch for any further movement. Di Peso doesn't think the hose has moved downward but an inch or two in the last 12 hours. (AP Wirephoto).

Mrs. McCrae, a World War 2 WASP (Women's Air Force Service Pilot), said the plane she piloted averaged 157 miles per hour across the country. The fastest leg was 184 M.P.H. between Long Beach and El Paso, Tex.

THE ONLY difficulty they encountered, Mrs. McCrea said, was compass trouble. The compass was off 20 degrees on Saturday and 15 degrees Sunday. She corrected by constant checks on radio stations.

The third finishers were Jane B. Hart and Marion W. Ruth, both of Lansing, Mich. They landed at 4:51 p. m. (EDT).

Other finishers in the order they landed yesterday: Alice Roberts of Phoenix, Ariz., and Iris Critchem of Palos Verdes Estates, Calif.

Frances B. Bera, Los Angeles, and Edna Bower, Long Beach, Calif.

De Thurmond, Long Beach, Calif., first solo pilot to reach the finish line.

Laurien Griffin, Merriam, Kan.

Dorothy Rungeling, Fenwick, Ont., and Felicity Bennett, Kingston, Ont.

Esther H. Gardiner, Waterford, Conn., and Clarissa H. Holcomb, Westfield, Mass.

Marcia Snip and Lois White, both of San Antonio, Tex.

Alice Hammond, Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich., and Jean Pearson, Crosse Pointe Park, Mich.

Doris Eacret, Elko, Nevada, and Helen McIntosh, Sunland, Calif., who landed at 8:45 p. m. (EDT), seven minutes before the official deadline for the day.

The other planes must arrive by Wednesday to qualify for prizes.

Costly Norway Fire

Bergen, Norway, July 5 (AP)—A fire which raged through the Bergen Harbor area for nearly four hours was brought under control early today. It leveled half of the early 18th century wooden trading houses on the ancient "German quay." Some 40 of the most historic buildings in Norway were reduced to ashes. Damages were estimated at about $240,000 or around 1,700,000 kronar.

Ask Drouth Emergency

Syracuse, N. Y., July 5 (AP)—Dairy farmers in three central New York counties have asked Gov. Harriman to declare a drouth emergency. Arthur Nickeson, secretary of the Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative, filed the request on behalf of Tompkins, Seneca and Schuyler counties. The governor must declare an emergency before an area can become eligible for federal relief. He said low rainfall had plagued the area for three months.
